FOUND NOT GUILTY U. S. OFFICIAL HERE

Man Was Arrested on a Charge of Larceny

Thomas O'Riley, a resident of the Draught Navy Yard, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of $55 from George Garner last June. The case was a long drawn out affair and after the testimony on both sides had been offered the court found O'Riley not guilty and ordered him discharged.

According to the testimony, offered O'Riley and Garner and a third party, met in a grove near the Parker avenue bridge and the former greeted Mr. Garner with the remark, "Have you got anything on the hip?" Garner said that he had nothing but had 55 cents in his pocket and would give 50 cents of it if some one would go and buy a pint of whiskey. O'Riley, volunteered to do the errand and came back with the bottle. O'Riley said that the whiskey was good, but Garner was not sure what the contents of the bottle was for it put him to sleep.

He claims that before he went to sleep he had $55 in the watch pocket of his trousers, but that when he awoke it was missing and O'Riley and the other man were also missing.

During the cross examination of the complainant he said that a few days after the alleged larceny he went to the police station with Officer Judson T. Crawford and swore out a warrant for another man whom he claimed stole the money and did not make out the warrant against O'Riley until last week.

Mr. O'Riley when placed on the stand said that he was the carrier of the whiskey which had been paid for by Mr. Garner, but that Garner after getting drunk became so obnoxious that he and the other man who was with him decided to leave him, which they did.

Inasmuch as O'Riley was out of work at the time, he went to several cities and did not return to Navy Yard until a few weeks ago when for the first time he learned that there was a warrant out for his arrest.

Several witnesses testified as to the honesty of the defendant and the court after considering the testimony found Mr. O'Riley not guilty and ordered his discharge.

Lawyer O'Sullivan appeared for the government and Lawyer Murphy for the defense.

Placed on Probation

Benedicto De Giorge was charged with stealing $11.60 from his father, Damiano De Giorge. It is alleged that the boy was left in charge of the store while the father went out on an errand and that the former worked the combination on the safe and, despite the fact that there was nearly $200 in the safe, he took but $11.60.

The young man has appeared in court before for being a stubborn child but at the time that he was in on that complaint the court decided that there was something wrong at the home, and during the course of the trial of the case this morning the testimony which was offered was of such nature that there was a doubt in the mind of the court, and the young man was placed in the hands of the probation officer.

There was an amusing incident in connection with the trial which caused some laughter in the court room. Charles De Giorge, a brother of the defendant, was one of the important witnesses and, owing to his tender years, Judge Hadley asked him if he knew the meaning of an oath and then queried him as to the meaning of a lie.

"Do you know what a lie is?" asked the court.

The answer was in the affirmative.

"Do you know what happens to people who lie?" was the second question.

"Yes," was the prompt response.

"They go to hell."

Was Fined $25

Alexander Norakawicz, who was tried yesterday on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Charles Buc, was this morning given a chance to make a settlement with the complainant, but the defendant refused to come to terms and was ordered to pay a fine of $25.

Drunken Offenders

William H. Campbell and John McCabe, charged with being drunk, were sentenced to the state farm. Thomas F. McKeon was fined $6 and three first offenders escaped with fines of $2 each.

ANKLE FRACTURED

BRAKEMAN MET WITH A SERIOUS ACCIDENT

James Cooper, aged 33 years, residing at 32 Chambers street, who is employed as a brakeman on the Boston & Maine railroad, was caught between two cars while at work at the Dutton street crossing shortly after six o'clock last night and suffered a fracture of his left ankle. The ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to St. John's hospital where he received treatment.

Meeting at the Board of Trade
Rooms at Which Col. Burr
States His Mission and Asks for Information on the Subject
—Address From Board of Trade and Prominent Citizens

A rousing meeting for the purpose of impressing upon the United States government the great benefit to be derived by the cities of the Merrimack valley by deepening the Merrimack river so as to make it navigable from Haverhill northward was held at the board of trade rooms this morning with Lieut. Col. Edwin Burr of the United States Engineer corps, as the guest of the occasion. Although the meeting was suddenly called with little opportunity for advertising it, there was a large representation present and what they lacked in numbers was made up for in enthusiasm and it was evident that Col. Burr was impressed by what he heard.

Col. Burr has charge of the engineering department for this district in the matter of waterways, and under an act of congress has been making an investigation of the possibility of making the Merrimack river navigable to Lowell at least. He is soon to report back to congress, but before doing so desired to hear what the commercial interests of the Merrimack valley had to say in relation to the matter and hence he notified the associations of Lowell and Lawrence that he would be here today to hear them. He requested that while he would hear all who cared to address him on the matter, as many as possible furnish him with information in writing. As a result, in addition to the several speakers referred to below, a statement prepared by the board was read to him and given him for further consideration, while editorials from The Sun, the Courier-Citizen and L'Espresso were presented him along with letters favoring the proposition from the following concerns: O'Sullivan Bros., Gilmore Manufacturing Co., James J. Kelly of the O'Donnell Dry Goods company; H. R. Barker Co., the Gilbridge Co., Helme Electric Co., J. L. Chaffoux, James J. McManis and others.

Col. Burr arrived on the 9 o'clock train from Boston and was met at the depot by a committee of the board of trade, headed by Acting President James O'Sullivan and Fred G. Garrett, chairman of the committee on transportation, under the auspices of which the meeting was held.

He was taken at once to the board of trade rooms where the meeting was held. Among those present were Mayor Meahan, Senator Hubbard, ex-Senator Putnam, James O'Sullivan, who presided; Fred G. Garrett; City Engineer Bowers; William Cogger, acting secretary of the board; Charles H. Callahan; George B. Coburn; J. L. Chaffoux; Paul Chaffoux; Edward B. Pelree; Charles H. Conant; Moses Marks; Secretary C. H. Littlefield of the Lawrence board of trade and M. J. Sullivan, president of the Lawrence Merchants' association. The Meeting Opened

On the arrival of the Lawrence visitors James O'Sullivan, acting president of the board of trade, called to order and after expressing the pleasure of the board at meeting a representative of the U. S. government he expressed the hope that the meeting would result in the deepening of the Merrimack river, making it navigable to Hunt's falls. "It seems like an abuse of Nature's gifts to Lowell to see the Merrimack river flowing idly to the sea. In Europe and other countries that stream would be utilized."

Mr. O'Sullivan then introduced Col. Burr.

Col. Burr Speaks

Col. Edwin Burr was received most cordially and he spoke in part as follows:

"This work of deepening rivers, as you know, comes to the corps of engineers of the war department. This particular district has its headquarters in Boston. In this connection this matter of a survey has been assigned to my office for a report. In reporting it is necessary to get in touch with the parties interested and find what they wish to accomplish and receive from them all possible information as to what benefits will result from such improvements. It's entirely a question of dollars and cents. The government receives no direct benefit from its expenditure. The government examines closely to see if the money it spends on these improvements will be commensurate with the benefits to be received. To determine this we must have the co-operation of the commercial interests affected. At present you have no navigation at all. The case is one of furnishing to the government the fullest information as to what benefit will be derived by the commercial interests of Lowell and Lawrence if the river is made navigable from Haverhill to Lowell."

The Board's Statement

President O'Sullivan then called upon Secretary Cogger to read a statement prepared by the board at the request of Col. Burr. The statement was as follows:

To Col. Edwin Burr, U. S. Survey. Dear Sir: The citizens of Lowell believe that the Merrimack river should be made navigable for vessels sufficiently large to admit of such cargo as would be required for a passage from Newburyport to Boston for the following reasons:

Its manufactures require the use of raw materials, such as cotton, in large quantities, and if these could be brought from the south and west in barges directly to this city the expense of transportation would be far less. Conversely, the products of the factories are very varied, including about everything from heavy machinery to phonograph needles, and are so widely distributed by the shipper that an opportunity to load them in barges or vessels for direct delivery to many points would make a great saving and enable the manufacturers to compete with other cities more fortunately located in the matter of transportation costs.

Something over 500,000 tons of coal are now brought into Lowell over the railroads. The transportation cost per ton is now 86 cents, which by means of direct water transportation would be far less, to say nothing of the saving in labor and time used in loading and unloading at a seaport terminal. A rough estimate places the actual saving as over $100,000 a year on this item.

Lowell factories produce no small amount of goods or machinery which

CITY SOLICITOR

Decides Question Raised by the Water Board

In an opinion prepared by request of Secretary Crawford of the water board, City Solicitor Duncan opines that articles purchased for the water department by the purchasing agent should be accepted and the bills approved even though the board believes the prices are exorbitant. The opinion reads as follows:

OFFICE OF CITY SOLICITOR.
Lowell, Mass., May 20, 1910.
J. W. Crawford, Esq.,
Secretary Water Board,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

I have your letter of May 8th, requesting my opinion on the following question: "Is the water department bound to accept and approve payment of any goods or supplies furnished by the chief of the department of supplies when the price is known to be excessive, or the goods appear to be inferior in quality for the purpose for which they are intended?"

In reply I will say that under the provisions of section 3 of the charter amendment of 1896, it is the duty of the chief of the department of supplies to purchase all materials and supplies for the city and so far as practicable only after public advertisement. He should purchase such articles as meet in every reasonable detail the requirements of the department for which they are intended, taking into consideration at all times the price to be paid, and should buy only at the lowest figure obtainable, consistent with the best interests of the city.

After a contract has been made and approved by the mayor, it is clear that, in the absence of fraud or collusion, such contract is binding on the city and any bills incurred thereunder should be paid.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that when the goods or articles bought for the water department are reasonably suitable for the purpose intended, the bills therefor should be approved, even though the board itself believes the prices charged are excessive.

Respectfully submitted,
Win. W. Duncan,
City Solicitor.

Someone has asked relative to the diploma of the Lowell Textile school. The answer is found in the school bulletin. The diploma of the school is awarded upon the satisfactory completion of any of the regular courses, covering not less than three years, except where entrance is to advanced standing. In such cases at least one year's attendance is required.

The National Cotton Manufacturers association offers annually a medal to that member of the graduating class from the cotton manufacturing course, selected because of his standing and general ability, as best fitted to receive it.

The daily work of the student forms an important part of his record, and a student will be awarded the diploma unless this portion of his record is clear.

In cases of either day or evening students, irregular attendance, lack of punctuality, neglect of either school or home work, disorderly or ungentlemanly conduct or general insubordination, are considered good sufficient reasons for the immediate suspension of a student, and a report to the trustees for such action as they deem necessary to take.

ABOUT AUTOTIRES

Lecture to the Lowell Auto Club

A very interesting illustrated lecture on tires was given before the members of the Lowell Automobile club last night at its headquarters on the top floor of the Richardson hotel. The lecturer started his talk by describing the manner in which the sap is taken from the trees and following along went into the details of tire making.

The illustrations consisted of several excellent reels of Edison motion pictures, taken for the most part at the plant of the Goodrich Rubber company, in Akron, Ohio. The earlier pictures showed the Brazilian Indians at work getting the rubber sap from trees in the forest. Later the process of solidifying and purifying the rubber was shown. The most illuminating portion of the lecture concerned the almost numberless processes used in the making of the tire. The building up of the inner tubes and the testing of them by means of water pressure was a revelation. F. M. Tillisch, direct from the Akron plant, who is making a tour of the country, was the lecturer. Accompanying him was Howard B. Limric, Boston manager for the company. Mr. Tillisch, in the course of his lecture, spoke of the course here and in Tyngsboro, and said it was one of the best he had ever ridden over. The evening closed with a series of motion pictures of the races held at Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 9 to 12, of last year. John O. Heinze, president of the Lowell club, presided during the evening.

CREW IS SAVED

Seven Men at Pumps for 24 Hours

VINEYARD HAVEN, May 21.—A losing combat of 24 hours with the invading waters, unbroken except to take snatches of food, was ended last evening for the crew of the little schooner Sarah & Lucy, which had sprung a leak last night off Cape Cod, when she was grounded in this harbor, after being towed in by the revenue cutter Acushnet.

The Sarah & Lucy was bound from Boston to New York with a cargo of copper chimes, having left the former port on May 18.

It was wireless telegraphy that worked out the salvation of the Sarah & Lucy and her crew of seven men. The little vessel, commended her plight to the Patuxet Lightship yesterday morning, and that beacon promptly notified the revenue cutter Acushnet, at Woods Hole. The Acushnet arrived alongside at 2 p. m. yesterday, when there were 3½ feet of water in the Sarah & Lucy's hold.

For several hours the men, fatigued by their long vigil, had felt the swish of the waters mount higher on their legs as they stood at the pumps, working for their lives. Their labors continued even after the Acushnet took their vessel in tow, but were at an end when the Sarah & Lucy was headed into the mud in the harbor here.

A steam pump probably will be set at

LAKEVIEW WATER LARGELY OF $1000

Unfit to Drink, Says State Board Is the Charge Against H. C. Welch of Malden

The water of Lake Maseppie is impure and not fit for drinking purposes, according to a report issued from the office of the state board of health after samples of the water had been submitted and analyzed.

The board recommends the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. to discontinue at once the present method of drawing water through a pipe line and that if the water is used at all upon the grounds that it shall be in such a way as not to come into the supply used for drinking and cooking, which supply is taken from tubular wells.

The following is the communication from the board of health:

Office of the State Board of Health, State House.

Boston, May 19, 1910.

To the Boston & Northern Street

Railway Company, Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen: Complaint having been made to this board of the unsatisfactory sanitary conditions at the resort known as Lakeview on Tyng's pond in the town of Dracut, which the board is informed, is controlled by your corporation, the board has caused an inspection of the water supply to be made by one of its engineers with special reference to the condition of the water supply and means provided for the disposal of sewage.

From this examination it appears that the water supply at this resort is taken from the pond a short distance from shore, near one of the main buildings, and in part from a system of tubular wells in a swamp in the eastern part of the grounds. The board is informed that the lake water is pumped into a tank, having a capacity of about 5000 gallons, each morning and is subsequently used for various purposes, including sprinkling the drives and walks, washing floors, etc. Water is then pumped from the group of tubular wells in the swamp in the rear of the theatre into the same tank.

Analyses of the water show that that which is drawn from the wells while affected by an excess of iron, is probably safe for drinking, but the water which is drawn from the pond is very badly polluted. There is no doubt that with the present arrangement, by which water is drawn, a part of the time from the pond and at other times from the wells and distributed through the same tank and pipes, the drinking water supplied to the resort is polluted to a greater or less extent and unsafe for drinking.

The board recommends that the drawing of water from the pond and its distribution through the same pipe system as the water supplied for drinking and cooking, be discontinued at once. If the pond water is used at all in the buildings or upon the grounds it should be supplied in such a way that there will be no danger that it may be used for drinking or cooking.

Both the well water, while affected, as already stated, by an excess of iron, is probably not seriously polluted at the present time, but it is probable that with continued use the quantity of iron in this water will increase so that it will become very objectionable for drinking and other purposes.

It is probable that wells can be so located at some point in this region that an ample supply of good water can be obtained for the requirements of the park, which will not be polluted or affected by an excess of iron. The board recommends that tests be made without delay with a view to securing a supply of water of good quality and that such a supply be provided as soon as possible to replace the water of the wells which contains an excess of iron.

It also appears that the provision for sanitation and similar conveniences at this park is entirely inadequate for the purpose, and that a serious nuisance is created there at times in the summer season. The board recommends that adequate and suitable sanitary facilities be provided, and that at the same time provision be made for the disposal of the sewage in such a way that it will not create a nuisance or pollute the waters of the pond.

The board is informed that the resort known as Mountain Rock on the northwesterly side of the pond is also under the control of your company. This resort is not apparently used to a very considerable extent, but it does not appear that any provision has been

BOSTON, May 21.—In police circles and in the shoe trade considerable interest is being taken in the affairs of Ezekiah C. Welch, who is set down in the Malden city directory as being a resident of 73 Elm street in that city. The Boston police have a warrant for his arrest on a charge of larceny of about $1000.

A week ago yesterday the West Lynn shoe manufacturing company, which has a factory at Hampton, N. H., petitioned into bankruptcy, Welch, although his name did not appear as an officer of the company, is said to have been practically the only man in it.

Welch has been missing from his usual haunts for several days, and the furniture and other things which he had in his salesrooms and office at 747 Boylston street have recently been sold out under a judgment secured by one of his creditors.

A warrant was sworn out at the instance of Charles W. Worcester, a note broker and money lender of 18 School street, who alleges larceny by means of false pretenses. Mr. Worcester's lawyer is Clarence W. Eldredge. Yesterday Mr. Eldredge said that on Dec. 8, 1909, Welch went to Mr. Worcester and said he wanted to borrow $1000 on his own note, and for the purpose of securing the loan, Mr. Eldredge said, he offered a first mortgage for $10,000 on the plant of the West Lynn shoe company at Hampton, that he had $2200 worth of shoes in his salesrooms on Boylston street, that he had $5000 worth of personal property and that his office furniture alone was worth $200.

Mr. Eldredge said that the loan was made. Later on Mr. Worcester found reason for uneasiness at having invested in the note. One of the things that was found out, Mr. Eldredge said, was that instead of owning the $10,000 first mortgage on the manufacturing plant at Hampton, Welch had pledged the loan with the Federal trust company of Boston for practically its face value. Mr. Worcester brought suit and got a judgment on which he sent an officer to levy on the $2200 worth of shoes and the office furniture at 747 Boylston street. Mr. Eldredge said that instead of finding $2200 worth of shoes there the sheriff discovered only about $20 worth. He relied on them and on the office furniture.

At the sale the sheriff realized on the office fittings something like $200. Some years ago Welch lived in Haverhill and was known there as a good fellow personally and as a successful shoe salesman. He was at that time and still is a member of the Pentucket club, a leading social organization, and he has been a frequent visitor there since he removed his family, consisting of a wife and three children, to Malden.

Last Saturday night, the night of the day on which Welch's shoe manufacturing company was petitioned into bankruptcy, a letter addressed to the Pentucket club was received there by Welch. The letter purported to have been written in Malden and in it Welch said he wished his fellow clubmen to understand that there was no truth in the charges being made against him nor in the gossip concerning his financial condition.

The Boston police tried to find Welch in Malden, but were unsuccessful. It was said he went to Baltimore, but he can't be located in that city.

Welch is about 40 years old, is a member of several clubs, it is said, and has been a liberal spender. He has been well known in certain of the high priced hotels in Boston.

made for a supply of drinking water except by taking water from the lake. The lake water is exposed to pollution by the sewage from this resort, and if this resort is to be used during the coming year a supply of good water for drinking should be provided.

By Order of the Board.

Office of the State Board of Health, State House, Boston, May 19, 1910.

To the Board of Health of the Town of Dracut.

Gentlemen: An examination of the resort known as Lakeview, near the westerly end of Tyng's pond, shows that the lake water supply is taken directly from the lake, and that the sewage from this resort is discharged in such a way that it finds its way into the lake within a short distance of the intake.

In the opinion of the board, it is essential for the adequate protection of the health of persons resorting to this place that a supply of good drinking water be provided from some suitable source. The lake is not a safe source from which to take water for drinking. Provision should also be made for the proper disposal of the sewage so that it will not create a nuisance or pollute the water of the lake.

By Order of the Board.

Office of State Board of Health, State House, Boston, May 19, 1910.

To the Board of Health of the Town of Tyngsboro.

Gentlemen: An examination of the summer resort known as Willowdale, on the southeasterly shore of Tyng's pond in Tyngsboro shows that the water supply for this resort is taken directly from the lake, the water of which is polluted at several points by sewage. In the opinion of the board, it is essential for the protection of those using this resort that a supply of good drinking water be provided and the use of water from the lake discontinued.

Provision should also be made for the disposal of the sewage from this resort in such a way that it will not create a nuisance or pollute the water of the lake.

The board has also examined the sanitary conditions affecting the group of cottages located near the southerly end of the lake and finds that the water supply at some of them is badly polluted and unsafe for drinking. The water of the wells in this densely populated locality is exposed to pollution from the numerous vaults and cesspools which are necessarily located at no great distance and it is necessary for the protection of the health of those living in this locality that a supply of good drinking water be provided. It is probable that a good supply of water can be obtained from the ground at some point in this region which would furnish all the water required for these cottages and for the resort known as Willowdale, at a reasonable expense.

By Order of the Board.

THE U. S. TRADE

WITH PANAMA WILL EXCEED $22,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Trade between the United States and the Republic of Panama will exceed $22,000,000 in the fiscal year which ends next month, and for the seven years since the Republic of Panama came into existence will approximate $100,000,000. About nine-tenths of this total, speaking in very round terms, is merchandise imported into the country from that Republic. Even these figures do not show the grand total of merchandise sent from the United States to Panama during this period, since each portion of the supplies for the Panama canal and those engaged in its construction are sent from time to time upon government vessels were not included in the figures reaching the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, by which this statement of trade with Panama is reported. Just west portion of the merchandise sent to Panama has been for use in the construction of the canal cannot be definitely determined, though the British minister at Panama recently estimated that about one-fifth of the total imports of the republic were for the necessities of the canal zone, approximately two-fifths for canal supplies and the remaining two-fifths for general use.

The trade with Panama has steadily grown and the figures of both imports and exports for the fiscal year 1910 will exceed those of any year since 1904, the earliest fiscal year for which figures have been presented by the bureau of statistics, imports from Panama were valued at $440,747. By 1906 they had grown to $1,068,887 and in 1909 were $1,676,994. Meantime exports to the republic show an even more rapid growth, having increased from $979,724 in 1904 to $12,460,233 in 1908 and $16,797,530 in 1909. In the nine months ending with March, 1910, imports were $1,556,048, against $1,139,483 in the corresponding period of the preceding year, and exports $15,308,885 against $12,476,161, indicating that for the complete fiscal year, which will end June 30 next the imports from the isthmian republic will exceed 20 million dollars.

Among the principal articles imported from Panama in the nine months ending with March, the latest period for which detailed statistics are available, the imports of bananas aggregated 2,508,000 bunches, valued at $591,681; India rubber, 292,538 pounds valued at $214,976; vegetable ivory, 4,689,645 pounds valued at $17,261 and hides of cattle, 617,643 pounds valued at $67,654.

Iron and steel manufactures, meat and dairy products, breadstuffs, lumber, cotton manufactures, explosives, cement, boots and shoes, and cars, carriages, etc., constitute by far the larger part of the merchandise imported to Panama; while soap, malt liquors, sugar, illuminating oil, scientific instruments, India rubber manufactures, fruits and nuts, eggs, copper manufactures, chemicals and lubricating oil are also exported in considerable quantities.

With few exceptions, all of the articles named show increased exports in the present year. Those of iron and steel, in the nine months ending with March of the years named, increased from $3,895,395 in 1908 to $10,222,222 in 1910; the principal proportion occurring in structural iron and steel, pumps and pumping machinery, iron sheets and plates, and wire; while steel rails, builders' hardware, and locomotives decreased. Meat and dairy products as a whole increased from $1,163,733 in 1909 to $1,297,229 in 1910; breadstuffs, from $544,408 to $628,885, the growth occurring chiefly in flour; bituminous coal, from $577,468 to $996,283; cement, from $107,245 to $792,551; explosives, from $27,000 to $322,031; cotton manufactures, from $521,576 to $805,988; and boots and shoes, from $217,456 to $475,382, the comparisons in each case being between the figures for the nine months ending with March, 1909, and those for the corresponding months of the current year.

and other boilers is that they heat the houses they are rated to heat;—you don't have to get the "next larger size."

These Boilers give more heat per pound of coal than others and cost less in repairs. They are simplicity itself in operation, are guaranteed for zero weather efficiency and to save fuel, labor, worry and money to those who use them.

There are no packed joints, sheet iron parts or brick linings in these Boilers, and the "Heat Ribs" cast on the interiors are found in no others.

They are a gilt edge investment for those who want heat and plenty of it at the minimum of expense and care.

CONTEMPT OF COURT

Is the Charge Against Boston Automobile Dealer

BOSTON, May 21.—Judge Bond in the second session of the superior court yesterday heard contempt proceedings against Alvan T. Fuller, proprietor of an automobile repair factory in Brighton, resulting, it is alleged, from the discharge of Adolph P. C. Martins, an employee, last Saturday because of the latter's service for six weeks on the jury.

From the evidence it appeared that Mr. Fuller had no personal knowledge of the matter, but that Martins was discharged by Alfred P. Wellman, assistant superintendent. The latter said he let Martins go because his work was unsatisfactory. He came from Detroit a year ago December to take charge of the factory. There are 250 men under him.

Some time in February Martins went to work at the factory. Later he was summoned to serve on the jury in the second session of the superior court. Wellman asked him to see if he could get excused, as he knew such a thing was done frequently in Detroit. While on the jury Martins worked every Saturday and at such time as he was not actually sitting on a jury.

He was discharged Saturday at the suggestion of Joseph B. Grady, foreman of the department in which he worked. Mr. Wellman admitted that in the middle of April, while Martins was on the jury, a new man was hired to do his work, and he said the work was better done by the latter.

Grady corroborated the testimony of Wellman as to the cause of the discharge of Martins. He denied that the jury service had anything to do with the discharge. James E. Hennessey, blacksmith at the factory for 15 years, said Martins' work was not satisfactory. John Nemer, who took Martins' place, said he obtained the job through an advertisement.

Martins testified that when he showed Wellman his jury summons he said: "Fuller hires men to work here, not to do jury duty." On Saturday last he said Grady came to him and said: "I'm very sorry to say that Wellman has discharged you." Wellman related his experience in his line of work and said the only instance where fault was found with his work was in regard to a spring which was not finished when attention was called to it. He never had any difficulty with anyone at Fuller's and denied the charge that he was satisfied if he did not do jury duty he would not have been discharged.

The court will hear further evidence next week. Judge Wait in the superior criminal court yesterday denied the motions of counsel for George F. Crawford, and others for leave to examine evidence and exhibits presented to the grand jury on which indictments were returned, accusing them of adding in the alleged bribery of certain jurors in the Crocker will case. The court, however, denied the motion as to the exhibits without prejudice, suggesting that the defendants specify the particular exhibits that they wish to examine.

A jury in the third session of the superior court, before Judge Morris yesterday, awarded Nell McKel 18,550 damages against the Boston Elevated Railway company in his suit for damages for injury to the hotel Caprio property, 1204-1206 Washington street, by reason of the construction and operation of the elevated road. He bought the estate in 1908, paying $62,500. The petitioner's experts estimated the damage at from $25,000 to $12,000, and the experts for the company estimated it from $5000 to $7500.

It is impossible for me to predetermine whether there will be a violation of the statutes. If, during the fight, the principals or their representatives violate the law, they will be punished. As has been stated by the courts, both in this country and in England, it is a question for a jury to determine whether such a contest is a sparring match or a prize fight.

"If a majority of the people of the state of California are against professional sparring exhibitions, the remedy lies with the legislature."

GAINED FIFTEEN POUNDS

"Am in better condition physically than I have been for years. My stomach, kidneys and liver are in fine shape," says Mr. William A. Burgess.

"While serving in the U. S. Army, 1898 to 1901, I contracted stomach and kidney trouble, from which I have suffered ever since, and for which I receive a pension. I tried many remedies, but none gave any noteworthy effect. About three months ago I began using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a medicine. I have used three bottles and have gained fifteen pounds since I began using it. I am still using it, and I do not think there is any medicine made that is equal to it. My stomach, liver and kidneys are in better order than they have been for years, and if these three organs of the body are kept in order one will have few doctor bills. I cheerfully recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a tonic, a stimulant and renovator of the whole system."—WILLIAM A. BURGESS, P. O. box 575, Danville, Ill.

BOILER EXPLOSIONS AND HOW PREVENTED.

There was a fearful boiler explosion at Canton, O., on Tuesday, with the loss of about thirty lives and fifty injured. This is a danger ever present in large factories unless thoroughly qualified men are in charge.

The laws of Massachusetts are very strict on all matters bearing upon the prevention of such accidents. It is a menace to the community and especially to the people working in the vicinity to let an incompetent man work around a boiler. If such a man is given any responsibility, or if working about boilers, unless he be closely watched, he is liable to cause an explosion. There are numerous ways, all very simple and apparently harmless, in which this can be done. Hence it is necessary to exercise great caution in guarding against such catastrophes. It is well that only men who are certified to be competent by state authority are forbidden to work on boilers. That law has lessened the number of explosions. At present it is strictly enforced by the state police. Inspector Moran is a frequent visitor in all the factories of this district, and he insists upon the observance of the law in every detail. Were it otherwise we should have boiler explosions as a result of incompetent men being employed and because of neglect on the part of competent men. One is as bad as the other.

In this connection it might be well to mention that in most of our local factories economy is carried to such extremes that the boiler rooms are not properly lighted. As a result the men in charge cannot always see as clearly as they should, and their sight is injured by turning from the bright glare of the furnace to the semi-darkness, or the reverse. This is one of the causes of eye trouble, and every man in charge of a battery of great large boilers needs light and needs the full use of sight. In some cases things of this kind are the indirect cause of explosions that are attended with the worst results.

TO MAKE THE MERRIMACK NAVIGABLE.

Often in the past has the subject of making the Merrimack navigable from Lowell to the sea been discussed; often, too, has it been reported upon as feasible by engineers, but never has anybody carried the project far enough to make it successful. The appropriation was the one thing needed and nobody ever seemed to work hard enough to secure that. Our distinguished senators from this state have been too busily engaged running the republican party of the country to give the necessary time and attention to a practical matter of this kind. Our congressman, too, has been so much engrossed with other interests that until recently it never occurred to him that a portion of the river and harbor appropriations should be secured to make the Merrimack navigable for the accommodation of the very important manufacturing cities located along the banks of the river.

In a speech at the state board of trade banquet in Boston the other night Congressman Moore of Pennsylvania told how Massachusetts and New England had been neglected in the distribution of the large appropriations made by congress for the improvement of rivers and harbors. Most of the money has gone to the west and the south, while the east, which has immeasurably more tonnage, has had slight consideration by the powers in charge of apportioning the appropriation. Here is an extract from Congressman Moore's speech which indicates to what extent the Bay State, and in fact New England, have been discriminated against:

Massachusetts, in the rivers and harbors bill now in conference in congress, is to be given just $745,000. He pointed out that Boston has a yearly tonnage of about 38,000,000 tons and that its custom house returns are about $21,000,000 yearly to the government. Yet its representatives, owing to lack of enthusiasm on the part of the people, had obtained but $745,000 for rivers and harbors.

Florida, less important by a long way than the Bay State, is to receive $1,000,000; Alabama will get $2,050,000; Texas, $3,540,000; California, $1,640,000; Oregon, $2,400,000; Washington, $3,800,000; Kentucky, exclusive of the Ohio river, $1,124,000; the Ohio river, $5,325,000.

Texas had the Trinity river, with less tonnage than the Merrimack, made navigable for a distance of 500 miles. The expenditure contracted for on the Mississippi river will exceed $200,000,000. Massachusetts is to receive this year $745,000 and has received since congress began to pay for such improvements about $19,000,000 a sum equal to the amount now being expended on the upper Mississippi river.

Vermont, Maine and Connecticut have been similarly discriminated against, but none of these states has the commerce or the claims upon such a large share of the appropriation as has Massachusetts. Here, then, is proof positive that our interests in congress have been neglected, that Senators Lodge and Crane have apparently never given this matter a thought. Senator Lodge, as usual, perhaps, has been too much absorbed in promoting the interests of other states and of the republican party to stand up for his own state. It is a well known fact that where the interests of the several states clash, he usually waives the claims of his own, while seeing other senators fighting strenuously for the states they represent.

It is time a different policy were pursued and time different men were sent to congress if we are to be discriminated against in such an important matter as the distribution of the deep waterway appropriations.

The Merrimack is a grand river that with a very moderate outlay can be made navigable to the sea so as to allow a freight business to be carried on between the three cities—Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and tide water, with a resultant saving in freight charges that might not at least a million dollars a year.

As a specimen of how practical the Japanese are with their knowledge of western science and determination to deal with disease, "The Java Times" says they have levied a tax on every household for two rats every month. A fine is imposed if the rats are not caught and shown in the time of inspection. All rats are examined, and if found to be plague infected the house from which they come has to be thoroughly disinfected. Twice a year every house and shop has to disgorge all its effects and be completely cleaned. The things go back only after sanitary inspection.

In the heart of the apple time.

We shall grow wise as the flowers,
And know what the bluebirds sing,
When the hands of the grasses unravel
The wind in the hollows of spring.

And out of the breathless summer
The aspen leaves will stir
At your low sweet laugh, to remember
The imperfect things we were.

The tail wags the astronomers.

The Concord river in the vicinity of the bridge in Rogers street is in a deplorably filthy condition. On one side of the river is a dead pig and on the opposite side a dead cat. The river is filled with all kinds of filth and the odor there is enough to create disease. Many complaints have been heard regarding it and it is the duty of the board of health to attend to such matters. The board should get busy at that point at once.

DOUBLE CHARGE

ROBERT ACCUSED OF BIGAMY AND ABDUCTION

WINSTED, Conn., May 21.—The man who gave his name as William Robert, his age as 45, and his home as Boston, here Monday, when he secured a license to marry Miss Mary Adams, who said she was 22 and lived in Boston, is wanted by the authorities for alleged bigamy, abduction, and perjury. The couple were married by Justice George A. Sanford.

George W. Adams, father of the girl-bride, came to Winsted yesterday from East Windsor Hill, where he and his wife are staying with a friend, and asked to see the bridegroom. He and Justice Sanford, the man who had eloped with and married his daughter was the girl's uncle, William Robert Baird of Hot Springs, Ark., and that he is 54 years old.

His daughter's full name, he said, was Ella Mary Adams and her correct age, 23. She is just out of the high school," he added, "and never saw Boston." Adams, who is a marble cutter, told the authorities that his wife and Baird's wife, who lives in Hot Springs, are sisters. The Adams family left a small village near Rutland, Vt., last July and went to Hot Springs, where they resided in the same house with the Bairds. They returned east for certain reasons.

Last Sunday afternoon Miss Adams, accompanied by her father and a girl friend, went to Hartford to attend a meeting. Miss Adams left the hall before the meeting was concluded and she has not been seen by her father since, he alleges.

She and Roberts are supposed to be in New York, where the police have been notified.

LAKE MOHONK CONFERENCE

MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., May 21.—The 18th annual session of the Mohonk Lake conference on International Arbitration concluded its deliberations last night. The most important concrete happening was the official announcement of a conference by Secretary Knox, through Solicitor of the State Department James Brown Scott of the probable early establishment of an international court of arbitral justice. Among the speakers at last night's concluding session were: Oscar L. Whitlaw of St. Louis, assistant treasurer of the United States and Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Brown, United States commissioner of education.

KILLED HER CHILD

Mother Attempted to Take Her Own Life

SPRINGFIELD, May 21.—Seized with a sudden fit of madness, Mrs. Jennie Bergquist, 35 years old, late yesterday cut the throat of her three-year old daughter Mabel, placed the dying child in its crib, turned the knife upon herself, inflicting wounds that physicians say will probably result fatally and then, bleeding profusely, jumped into a bath tub and turned on the water in an attempt to drown herself.

When her husband returned to the Bergquist home at 42 Maiden street early last evening the mutilated body of his little daughter was the first sight that greeted him. Following a crimson trail he found his wife in the bath tub weak from her wounds, but none the worse for her attempt to drown herself.

Until a day or two ago no evidence of Mrs. Bergquist's abnormal mental condition was noted. Yesterday, however, she is said to have been seized several times with fits of insanity, culminating late in the day in the murder of her child and probably of herself. Ever since the birth of little Mabel, the mother had lavished affection upon the child. Mrs. Bergquist is now at the Springfield hospital, where small hope is held out for her recovery.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

At the Opera House today two full shows will be given in the afternoon starting at 1.30 and 3 and 7 and 8.30 at night, with Delmar and Donnar, clever and sensational acrobatic artists. Geo. C. Davis, original story teller, The Harmony Four, in a happy blending of comedy and harmony; Grace Alwyn, in pictorial melodies, and a fine program of the latest motion pictures. The concert will be given from 1.30 to 5 and 5 to 10.30 at night. Commencing next Monday there will be the usual change of program and it will include for the first three days, Grace Alwyn and company, Nora & Richards, Germain & Langley, Helen Hampton and a series of the latest pictures.

THEATRE VOYONS

One point the management of the Theatre Voyons has always been strong on and that is the quality of the pictures. Every picture of more than ordinary worth has been shown first here and nowhere can the patron of motion pictures secure a better or more varied program for his money. Father's first American release, "The Girl from Arizona," is one of the features today and a mighty good one it is. The photography is excellent and the acting on a par with that of the same make produced in France. The comedy is a rich one full of laughs and with a pleasing bit of sentiment. Tomorrow the usual Sunday concert will be given and the program will be of interest to all.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Today is the last chance to see Lee Clark & Company in their great dramatic sketch, "One Touch of Nature." It is an act that is far above the average and cannot help but please as there is both comedy and drama in it. Murray and Harris are first class singers and dancers and their wardrobes are very pretty and elaborate. An excellent list of fine comedy pictures and a list of actors to be kept in mind. "The Silent Tattlers," make a first class performance. Miss Claudia Bessette is pleasing all who hear her with the latest illustrated songs, and the views of the comet are something that you should not lose the opportunity of seeing. Continuous show today and change of pictures Sunday.

STAR THEATRE

"An Eye for an Eye" is the theme of the talking picture which is being presented at the Star theatre by a capable company of actors. This new tale depicts a love story which started in sunny Italy and which ends dramatically in America. There is a western picture which thrills the hearts of every one. Comedy motion picture subjects are also on the program. The illustrated songs are always the latest and best. A grand new picture, more complete than any yet shown, is included with the admission of five cents. Women and children are tendered special attention.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Si Jenks continues to make a hit at the Empire theatre. This new tale of the funny happenings on his travels through the cities. He's a clever performer of the wholesome sort that pleases and doesn't offend. Kennedy & Kennedy in their double dancing act show some fine dancing and will continue to do so.

The moving pictures are of the best and are the most interesting sort, especially the picture "Behind Closed Doors," which tells a pathetic story, only relieved by the comedy picture which follows it.

There will be a concert Sunday which will show some of the latest moving pictures and a longer program. Mr. Charles Rogers and Miss Whitley will each render illustrated songs, while Mr. Edwin Byron will give several violin solos of a high class.

REVISION OF TAX LAWS

The coming week will witness the final climax of the legislative battle which is being waged in the general court to make possible the formulation of a plan for a revision of the tax laws that will rescue the state from present evil conditions.

The pending legislation which seeks only an amendment to the constitution which will permit the reasonable classification of property for taxation, has been recently made the object of vigorous attacks of an anonymous character but in which the hand of certain public service corporations is clearly evident.

The main argument of these interests is, in brief, that the legislatures of coming years cannot be trusted to make the laws of the state and, as might be supposed, it has not proved particularly effective.

Those who are employing it, however, declare that it classification would be permitted the legislature would be subjected to such pressure by special interests that it would be unable to resist. To this the reply is that this is what the legislature is for—to hear all sides; to sift the chaff from the wheat, and to adopt such legislation as is just and equitable to all.

A significant fact in this connection is that in the early days of the state classification of property was enacted by Massachusetts legislatures, containing some of the very men who framed the constitution.

At all events, declare the manufacturers and merchants who are urging tax reform, there is no place for positivism in this discussion. It is only a question of the selfish narrow-mindedness of special interests that this element has been injected with the discussion. They are striving to exert today upon the present legislature the "pressure of special interests" that they pretend to fear for the future. They have also come as far as they dared in the way of mysterious hinting that certain property owners, such as small real estate holders, would not profit as a result of the adoption of the classification amendment. The folly of this is apparent when the men of good strength of the real estate interests of the commonwealth in its remotest corners. Real estate rights will be simply protected, because real estate is big and powerful enough to look out for itself.

MEN ARRESTED

Said to Have Held Girls Prisoners

NEW YORK, May 21.—The police of Elizabethport, N. J., yesterday rescued from a coal barge Elizabeth Kelley and Ellen Goodwin of Boston, two girls, 11 and 18, respectively, who said they were enticed aboard the barge Sunday in Boston harbor and had been held prisoners. On their statement Jerome Malloy and Thomas Hersh, two members of the barge crew, were arrested. The girls accused the men of attacking them during the voyage to New Jersey and also say their alleged captors planned to place them in an immoral house.

BALLOON LANDS SAFELY

IONIA, Mich., May 21.—The balloon Centennial piloted by Captain H. E. Honeywell and carrying also William F. Asman, which left St. Louis on Thursday in an attempt to capture the Lamplight cup for long distance flight, landed yesterday at the little town of Shiloh, 10 miles north of Ionia. The balloon had been in the air 22 hours and had covered 450 miles.

QUEEN VICTORIA

HER MAJESTY QUEEN VICTORIA OF SPAIN

Sorrow Comes to Queen While King is in London

MADRID, May 21.—Queen Victoria was delivered of an infant stillborn at 4 o'clock this morning. The sex was male. The unhappy outcome is attributed to a premature attachment, which, however, was otherwise natural. The body will be buried without ceremony in the royal pantheon of the Escorial monastery.

When told of her loss the mother wept bitterly. King Alfonso is still in London, where he attended yesterday the funeral of the queen's uncle, the late King Edward.

The present is the first instance of a still birth in the Spanish royal family. Queen Victoria is the mother of two boys and a girl, all surviving. She has openly acknowledged that it is her ambition to have a large family.

2,695 PERSONS
Sailed From New York for Continent

NEW YORK, May 21.—The tide of wealth and fashion toward Europe reached its spring flood today when a fleet of seven outgoing liners carried 2,695 persons bound for the pleasure cities and resorts of Great Britain and the continent. The rush Europeanward has never seemed more general among people of means and leisure than this year. Not only did the number of passengers sailing constitute the record for a single day, but on other recent sailing days the passenger lists of the liners have been of unusual length and the outward tide of travel promises to continue until unusually late. The summer season in Europe holds out unusual attractions. The aviation meets and other big amusements planned on the other side as a rule have not only the pleasure and education of the home people in foreign countries in view, but the profit to be made out of visiting foreigners of whom Americans by general agreement emphatically take the lead, not only in numbers but in liberal expenditure.

MORE DRIVEN WELLS

Water Department Wants New Land on Boulevard

There will come a time when more driven wells will be needed to supply the demand for water in Lowell and in order to be in readiness for that time the water department has in mind the acquisition of land on the boulevard. The land is situated on the back side of the boulevard and comprises five or six acres. Engineers have gone over the land in question and have found good water veins there. The property, it is acquired, would admit of at least 200 new wells.

Rufus M. Whitte, assistant engineer of the state board of health, came to Lowell this afternoon and went over the land in question with Supt. Thomas of the water department. His trip to Lowell was in response to a letter sent by Mr. Thomas.

A law that is not many years old says that a city wishing to condemn land for the purpose of protecting its water supply must have the approval of the state board of health. This fact accounts for Engineer Whitte's visit to Lowell this afternoon. He will look the proposed location over and report back to the state board of health.

Another item of interest in connection with the water department is the transfer of wells—one section spelling another. The well land at the boulevard is laid out in sections and section A extending along the river from the lower pumping station to or near the wind mill, is to be abandoned for the present because of too much iron in the water. The wells are being transferred to a section along the same course but 50 feet farther from the river and nearer the boulevard. The section to which the wells are being removed has been tested and splendid results are expected as the right kind of sand and lots of it has been found there.

TORPEDO BOAT TEST

The Flusser Had the Standardization Trial Today

ROCKLAND, Me., May 21.—The torpedo boat destroyer Flusser went onto the Rockland course early today to repeat her standardization test of Tuesday when she attained a maximum speed at the rate of 33.433 knots an hour and developed a maximum horse power of 15,992.

Cloudy skies, a fresh northeast breeze and choppy sea were the conditions under which the little craft was making her runs.

With the completion of her trial the scene shifts to the Provincetown course where the battleship Michigan and the destroyers Flusser and Reid will be given a series of tests similar to those which have been made on the Rockland course the present week, all of which are for the purpose of determining whether a greater depth of water facilitates the movements of warships. Of the three Atlantic coast courses Rockland takes an easy lead as to depth of water. Its shallowest spot being 325 feet while the maximum depth is 490 feet or 81 2-3 fathoms. At Provincetown the ships will steam over a measured mile that ranges in depth from 150 to 160 feet while at Delaware breakwater the maximum depth is but 150 feet and the minimum 135 feet.

Although standardization trials in foreign countries are said to have demonstrated that shallow water causes a drag to ships of deep draft and consequently retards their speed, naval authorities in this country are differing in their opinions as to whether the surplus depth of the Rockland course is really beneficial.

The protected condition of the Rockland course has been realized and has commended itself to the trial boats, both in the exhaustive tests of the past four days and in all of the builders' acceptance trials. They say that standardization trials can be held here when it would be almost impossible at Provincetown or Delaware breakwater. The effect is found in the increased cost to all the builders, save the Bath Iron works of sending ships to the Rockland course.

It is semi-officially stated that this course will not be entirely abandoned even if it fails to show the superior merits that it is supposed to possess. The Bath Iron works will continue to send all ships here for trial.

The destroyer Reid which completed her tests yesterday left late last night for Charlestown navy yard.

TWO NEW RECORDS

Were Made by the Balloon
Cleveland Today

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., May 21.—Two new records were established today when the balloon Cleveland which ascended from North Adams last night came down here at 6:28 this morning after the longest flight ever made by a balloon from New England and the first time that a balloon from New England has landed in Canada. The balloon traveled a distance of more than 200 miles in an air line, was in the air 13 hours, 52 minutes and reached an altitude of 11,000 feet. With A. Leo Stevens as pilot and carrying Prof. David A. Todd of Amherst college, Charles Somerville, a New York newspaperman and H. P. Sherman of London, a Williams college student, the balloon ascended from North Adams last night at 6:43. The principal object of the balloon voyage was to secure data on Halley's comet but on account of the haze and the bright moon, the aeronauts were unable to make an observation.

This voyage makes the balloon a claimant for two cups, one offered by a newspaper of Montreal for the New England balloon landing nearest to that city and the other by President Corliss Field Bishop of the Aero Club of America for the New England balloon making the longest flight. The previous long flight record was made by William Van Fleet who covered a distance of 165 miles last summer from North Adams to a town in Maine.

KING ALFONSO

Is Hurrying to the Bedside of the Queen

LONDON, May 21.—Most of the members of royalty, special envoys and deputations who came to attend the funeral of King Edward have left or are leaving today for their homes. King Alfonso of Spain is hurrying his departure as a consequence of disappointing news from Madrid of Queen Victoria's premature announcement. Emperor William will remain two days at Buckingham palace.

This morning Queen Mother Alexandra received in farewell audience in the throne room of Buckingham palace the deputations to the funeral, the officers of the German and other visiting regiments and foreign civil bodies, thanking them for their presence on yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied American Ambassador Reid and Mrs. Reid to West park today for the week-end.

IMMENSE ARENA

To be Built for the Big Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Safely over the troubles caused by the enforced change of scene of the big fight for Emoryville in San Francisco, affairs are moving along smoothly once more.

Definitely reassured by the district attorney who says the law reads no apparent obstacle against the staging of the great contest in this city, Promoters Rickard and Gleason are busy themselves today with the multitudinous details which arrangements for the combat require.

The fight will take place in an arena to be built especially for the purpose at Eighth and Market streets close to the heart of San Francisco. A year's lease of the property has been secured and the building to be erected will be constructed along the identical lines proposed for the Emoryville structure. Thus no change in the seating of spectators will be entailed.

It is estimated that a million feet of lumber will be used in the construction of the gigantic structure. The arena is 525 by 425 feet and Rickard says that if necessary a seating capacity of 35,000 can be provided.

Because of the dissatisfaction engendered by the Papke-Thomas fight Thursday night, Chief of Police Martin has announced that hereafter he will personally supervise all rights held in this city.

Jack Johnson has not done much work since Wednesday afternoon. He was on the road as usual yesterday and played a little baseball late in the afternoon but otherwise he did not exert himself. He has six weeks still ahead of him and he figures that it is not necessary for him to exert himself. He has plans calling for boxing bouts Sunday afternoon.

YOUNG PRIESTS WILL SING FIRST MASSES TO-MORROW

Two young priests will sing their first high mass in this city tomorrow. Rev. John Riordan, who was ordained yesterday at Boston, will officiate at the Sacred Heart church at 10:30 o'clock, and Rev. Bernard Rourke, who was ordained today by Archbishop Farley in New York. The latter will sing high mass at St. Patrick's church at 11 o'clock. One week from tomorrow Rev. John Roche, O. M. I., who was ordained a week ago today, will sing his first high mass at the Sacred Heart church.

BIG REGATTA TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—Conditions early today were almost ideal for the eighth annual regatta of the American Rowing Association over the Henley course on the Schuylkill river this afternoon. Forty crews and nearly two hundred oarsmen from the rowing centers of the east are entered for the twelve events on the program.

The race of the day probably will be that for junior college eights in which Harvard, Pennsylvania and Columbia are entered. The race for college freshmen eights is also one of the star events, the crews entered being from Yale, Columbia, and Pennsylvania.

The

Will not produce music alone. There must be power and an organist. How expensive is that power? Churches especially, can ill afford to overlook this question. One advantage of the electric organ blower is its low running cost.

60 CENTRAL STREET

THE STREET DEPT.

Will Next Turn Its Attention to Middlesex Street

When the street department has finished with Prescott street it will turn its attention to Middlesex st. The paving of this street with granite paving blocks will be continued from the railroad crossing to Nichols street. The appropriations for the present year provide for this work.

Another job provided for in the appropriations for the year includes the paving of Merrimack street from the railroad crossing in Dutton street to Tilden street. This job is subject to delay on account of the proposed Dummer street extension and not only the committee on streets, but the city council as a whole seems to favor the extension providing that the property owners do not name too big a price.

On Tuesday afternoon of next week a special committee will meet property owners to discuss the question of land and business damages. On this committee are Aldermen Gray, Councilmen Genest and Brady. These men have been appointed by the street committee as a sub-committee to obtain all information bearing on the proposed extension and to report back to the committee. The estimated cost of the extension is about $60,000.

Asked today as to the paving of Merrimack street, Supt. Putnam said that he would like to hear something definite relative to the extension of Dummer street before starting the paving job in Merrimack street.

"If the extension is to be made," he said, "it would mean a difference in grade in Merrimack street. Of course, it is not necessary that the work of extending Dummer street should be gone through with before Merrimack street is paved, but if it is ascertained for a certainty that the work is going to be done we can make our grades in Merrimack street accordingly."

Grounds Are Neglected

The lawn and flower beds in front of city hall and the grounds surrounding the Memorial building are being sadly neglected. The flower beds at the city hall are a sorry sight and the lawn mowers has not yet made its appearance. This is up to the park commission.

Livingston Park Question

A hearing on the question of acquiring the Livingston property in the Highlands for public park purposes will be held before the city council next Tuesday evening.

AN APPEAL FILED
In the Glover Will Case at Cambridge Today

CAMBRIDGE, May 21.—At the office of the clerk of courts of Middlesex county here today there was filed an appeal in the Glover will case from the decision of Judge Charles J. McIntyre, who, following a long and bitterly fought attempt to have the will broken, held that the will had been properly made. The decree of Judge McIntyre giving the local portion of the estate to the widow and to another brother, Seymour S. Glover, was made on April 23 last following a long contest by four of the dead man's brothers to annul the instrument.

Clarence F. Glover was murdered on November 29, 1908, and Hattie Leblanc, a young French Canadian girl who had been living with the Glover family, was indicted on the charge of having committed the crime. The brothers sought to prove in the will contest that Mrs. Glover exercised undue influence over her husband.

6 O'CLOCK FOUND NOT GUILTY Man Was Arrested on a Charge of Larceny

Thomas O'Reilly, a resident of the Dracut Navy Yard, was arrested before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of $85 from George Garver last June. The case was a long drawn out affair and after the testimony on both sides had been offered the court found O'Reilly not guilty and ordered him discharged.

According to the testimony offered O'Reilly and Garver, a third party, met in a grove near the Parker avenue bridge and the former greeted Mr. Garver with the remark, "Are you got any on the hip?" Garver said that he had nothing but had 65 cents in his pocket and would give 50 cents of it if some one would go and buy a pint of whiskey. O'Reilly volunteered to do the errand and came back with the bottle. O'Reilly said that the whiskey was good, but Garver was not sure what the contents of the bottle was for it put him to sleep.

He claims that before he went to sleep he had $85 in the watch pocket of his trousers, but that when he awoke it was missing and O'Reilly and the other man were also missing.

During the cross examination of the complainant he said that a few days after the alleged larceny he went to the police station with Officer Judson T. Crawford and swore out a warrant for another man whom he claimed stole the money and did not make out the warrant against O'Reilly until last week.

Mr. O'Reilly when placed on the stand said that he was the carrier of the whiskey which had been paid for by Mr. Garver, but that Garver after getting drunk became so obnoxious that he and the other man who was with him decided to leave him, which they did.

Inasmuch as O'Reilly was out of work at the time, he went to several cities and did not return to the Navy Yard until a few weeks ago when for the first time he learned that there was a warrant out for his arrest.

Several witnesses testified as to the honesty of the defendant and the court after considering the testimony found Mr. O'Reilly not guilty and ordered his discharge.

Placed on Probation
Benedetto De George was charged with stealing $11.60 from his father, Damiano De George. It is alleged that the boy was left in charge of the store while the father went out on an errand and that the former worked the combination on the safe and, despite the fact that there was nearly $200 in the safe, he took but $11.60.

The young man has appeared in court before being a stubborn child but at the time that he was in on that complaint the court decided that there was something wrong at the home, and during the course of the trial of the case this morning the testimony which was offered was of such nature that there was a doubt in the mind of the court, and the young man was placed in the hands of the probation officer.

There was an amusing incident in connection with the trial which caused some laughter in the court room. Charles De George, a brother of the defendant, was one of the important witnesses and, owing to his tender years, Judge Hadley asked him if he knew the meaning of an oath and then queried him as to the meaning of a lie.

"Do you know what a lie is?" asked the court.

The answer was in the affirmative.

"Do you know what happens to people who lie?" was the second question.

"Yes," was the prompt response.

"They go to hell."

To Hear Views of Citizens in Regard to This Important Project

LIEUT. COL. EDWIN BURR,
(Sketch by Sun Artist.)

Meeting at the Board of Trade Rooms at Which Col. Burr States His Mission and Asks for Information on the Subject—Address From Board of Trade and Prominent Citizens

A rousing meeting for the purpose of impressing upon the United States government the great benefit to be derived by the cities of the Merrimack valley by deepening the Merrimack river so as to make it navigable from Haverhill northward was held at the board of trade rooms this morning with Lieut. Col. Edwin Burr of the United States Engineer corps, as the guest of the occasion. Although the meeting was suddenly called with little opportunity for advertising it, there was a large representation present and what they lacked in numbers was made up for in enthusiasm and it was evident that Col. Burr was impressed by what he heard.

Col. Burr has charge of the engineering department for this district in the matter of waterways, and under an act of congress has been making an investigation of the possibility of making the Merrimack river navigable to Lowell at least. He is soon to report back to congress, but before doing so desired to hear what the commercial interests of the Merrimack valley had to say in relation to the matter and hence he notified the associations of Lowell and Lawrence that he would be here today to hear them. He requested that while he would hear all who cared to address him on the matter, as many as possible furnish him with information in writing. As a result, in addition to the several speakers referred to below, a statement prepared by the board of trade was read and given him for further consideration, while editorialists from the Sun, the Courier-Citizen and the Lowellist were presented him along with letters favoring the proposition from the following concerns: O'Sullivan Bros., Kellogg Manufacturing Co., James J. Kellogg, L. P. Morse of Haverhill, 3133 Margaret L., the well known trained nurse, and Miss Bridget M. Friends are requested not to send flowers. Funeral announcement later, Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

The Board's Statement
President O'Sullivan then called upon Secretary Cogger to read a statement prepared by the board at the request of Col. Burr. The statement was as follows:
To Col. Edwin Burr, U. S. Surveyor.
Dear Sir: The citizens of Lowell believe that the Merrimack river should be made navigable for vessels sufficiently large to admit of such ocean going as would be required for a passage from Newburyport to Boston for the following reasons:
1. The manufacture requires the use of raw materials, such as iron, in large quantities, and if these could be brought from the south and west in barges directly to this city the expense of transportation would be far less.
2. Conversely, the products of the factories are very varied, including about everything from heavy machinery to phonograph needles, and are so widely distributed by the shippers that an opportunity to load them in barges or vessels for direct delivery to many points would make a great saving and enable the manufacturers to compete with other cities more favorably located in the matter of transportation costs.

Something over 300,000 tons of coal are now brought into Lowell over the railroads. The transportation cost per ton is now 55 cents, which by means of direct water transportation could be lowered to 35 cents, or 20 cents, in labor and time used in loading and unloading at a report terminal. A rough estimate places the actual saving at over $100,000 a year on this item.

Lowell factories produce no small amount of goods or machinery which

CAPT. MULLIGAN

To Have Charge of the North Dakota

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Capt. Richard T. Mulligan has been relieved from the bureau of navigation of the navy department, and is preparing to go to Boston in a few days to assume his new duties, the command of the monster battleship North Dakota. It will be his first important sea command in several years.

Capt. Mulligan was born in New York, and was appointed to the naval academy from New Jersey in 1871, graduating in 1876. For the next two years he was attached to the Powhatan, and in 1880 reached the grade of ensign. From 1881 to 1882 he was stationed at the New York navy yard, and from 1882 to 1886 was on the Tennessee, reaching the rank of Lieutenant, junior grade, in the latter year.

Several details to the bureau of navigation have served to give him an unusually long tour of departmental duty. He was attached to the bureau from 1891 to 1896. In August, 1907, he returned to the bureau, where he remained until placed in command of the North Dakota. At first, he was detail officer of the bureau. Recently he had been assistant to the bureau.

During the Spanish war he was on the New York, Admiral Sampson's flagship, and took part in the portion of the battle of Santiago in which that vessel participated. He served a detail at the Boston Navy Yard after the war.

Capt. Mulligan is regarded in Washington as a capable officer, but there is said to have been some opposition to his assignment to the command of the North Dakota. Other aspirants reasoned that it should go to an officer who had served more at sea. He has undoubtedly done much efficient work in the navigation bureau, and his services there helped him to obtain such a desirable ship as the North Dakota.

The ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to St. John's hospital where he received treatment.

CITY SOLICITOR

Decides Question Raised by the Water Board

In an opinion prepared by request of Board of City Solicitor, Duncan opines that articles purchased for the water department by the purchasing agent should be accepted and the bills approved even though the board believes the prices are exorbitant. The opinion reads as follows:

Office of City Solicitor,
Lowell, Mass., May 20, 1910.
J. W. Crawford, Esq.,
Secretary Water Board,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—
I have your letter of May 14th, requesting my opinion on the following question: "Is the water department bound to accept and approve payment of any goods or supplies furnished by the chief of the department of supplies when the price is known to be excessive, or the goods appear to be inferior in quality for the purpose for which they are intended?"

In reply I will say that under the provisions of section 3 of the charter amendment of 1896, it is the duty of

HON. BUTLER AMES

Reads Letters He Sent to Hon. Sereno Payne

WASHINGTON, May 21.—In the house yesterday Hon. Butler Ames read the letters that passed between him and Rep. Sereno Payne, the republican whip.

The sundry civil bill was under consideration. No one was particularly interested and members were making political speeches. In general debate on an appropriation bill a member may talk on any subject under the sun, although he seldom talks about the bill itself.

Mr. Ames asked Mr. Tawney, the chairman of the appropriations committee, to give him time, and Mr. Tawney did so, not imagining that Mr. Ames was about to provide the house with a sensation.

At first Mr. Ames' remarks attracted little notice, but soon the house sat up, and after he had got well into his subject he was interrupted by Rep. Olmstead of Pennsylvania, who made a point of order and declared that Mr. Ames should not be allowed to proceed as he was making a personal attack upon a fellow member.

The chairman overruled the point of order, and Mr. Ames was permitted to conclude without further interruption.

Wants to Be Understood

In opening his remarks, Mr. Ames said: "I desire to submit the following communication from myself to the chairman of the committee on ways and means and one from him to me in connection with the attempt to get that committee to hold a hearing on, and if possible to report house resolution No. 564, providing for the freer and better trade relations with Canada."

"I do so this so that the members of the house in particular and the public generally may fully understand and appreciate the attitude of the committee on ways and means as represented by its chairman."

Mr. Ames then read the correspondence.

Ames' Letter to Payne

The first letter, dated May 10 and addressed to Mr. Payne, was as follows:

"Dear Sir: I have the honor to request a hearing by your committee on house resolution 564, a copy of which I send enclosed. Enclosed is a petition, signed by 77 republican members of the house of representatives, requesting that your committee favorably report the above mentioned resolution."

"I have not seen all the republican members, and a number that I have seen, while favoring the resolution, preferred not to sign the petition, but chose to speak to members of my committee on ways and means in its favor. Very respectfully,

"Butler Ames."

Petition Means Little to Payne

In reply, Mr. Payne, six days later, wrote:

"My Dear Sir:—Yours of the 10th inst. was duly received. I cannot see how the fact that 77 men have signed your petition changes at all the situation in regard to your resolution."

"It does not change the attitude of the members of the committee with whom I have conferred, nor does my conversation with some of the signers of your petition strengthen your position. Yours very truly,

"Sereno E. Payne."

"Not Good Political Sense"

This letter Mr. Ames answered yesterday as follows, his reply being addressed to Mr. Payne:

"In answer to your letter from the committee on ways and means of the 17th inst., I would call your attention to the fact that on three separate days I approached your august person and asked verbally and politely for a hearing by your committee on house resolution No. 564, which was introduced in the house March 31, 1910, and which reads as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense and judgment of this house that negotiations with Canada should be instituted at this time, with a view to establishing closer commercial ties and freer trade relations with that country, and Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons."

"Ordered, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the president of the United States."

"To my first request you arrogantly insisted (if I remember correctly) that 'as far as you could find out no one wanted the resolution and that it was not good political sense.'"

Discourtesy Inexcusable

"Believing that your lack of courtesy was inexcusable and that you were unable to understand or appreciate that many republican members of the house not only wanted the resolution passed, but who, not yet having lost all touch with the present desires of the party and the country generally, did believe the resolution to be good political sense I went to the unusual labor of circulating, in person, a petition which I enclosed with my written and last request for a hearing."

"This petition was signed by 77 republican members of the house. It certified not only to the 'availability' of the adoption of the resolution, but also requested your committee to favorably report the same."

"To this written evidence of the error of your assumed position you give no consideration."

"My last request for a hearing was made in letter form at the suggestion of a member of your committee."

Taft Drawn Into the Affair

"Is it properly to be assumed that you do not intend, in the beginning, to consider or act upon this resolution?"

"The president wrote you a letter, dictated in my presence and in that of a third party, indicating his approval of the resolution, though not specifically asking action therefor, lest his request might embarrass the house or lest the house might embarrass him by refusing its endorsement. It was and is his intention to proceed with such negotiations whether the house acts upon the resolution or not."

"You stated on two occasions that 'the president did not want the resolution and when I suggested that there must be some understanding among you graciously illuminated the situation by telling me that the president knew more what he wanted than did I.'"

Involves Taft's Sincerity

"I twice suggested going over with you the letter you had received and which I had heard dictated."

"On one of these occasions you informed me that 'Your relations with the president were such that when he wrote you a letter he did not want the resolution.'"

"If that be true, then Representative Fish and myself were both deceived and I assure you that it is not even to be assumed that either intentionally or unintentionally the president would be lacking in sincerity or straightforwardness."

"I am surprised that the written request of more than one-third of the republican membership, including every one of the Massachusetts republican delegation, should not be sufficient to secure a hearing by your committee. I am loath to believe that the committee on ways and means is either hidebound in their own opinions or indifferent to the desire of a large number of the republicans in congress."

Payne's Conduct Insulting

"The fact remains, however, that I have used every due diligence and courtesy to secure such treatment and gentlemanly consideration as any member of the house should and does expect of other members."

"Your statement that 'your conversation with some of the signers of my petition does not strengthen my position' is at once ungentlemanly and insulting."

LAKEVIEW WATER LARGELY OF $1000

Unfit to Drink, Says State Board Is the Charge Against H. C. Welch of Malden

The water of Lake Maseucippie is impure and not fit for drinking purposes, according to a report issued from the office of the state board of health after samples of the water had been submitted and analyzed.

The board recommends the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. to discontinue at once the present method of drawing water through a pipe line and that if the water is used at all upon the grounds that it shall be in such a way as not to come into the supply used for drinking and cooking, which supply is taken from tubular wells.

The following is the communication from the board of health:

Office of the State Board of Health, State House.

Boston, May 19, 1910.

To the Boston & Northern Street Railway Company, Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen: Complaint having been made to this board of the unsatisfactory sanitary conditions at the resort known as Lakeview on Tyng's pond in the town of Dracut, which the board is informed, is controlled by your corporation, the board has caused an inspection of the locality to be made by one of its engineers with special reference to the condition of the water supply and means provided for the disposal of sewage.

From this examination it appears that the water supply at this resort is taken from the pond a short distance from shore, near one of the main buildings, and in part from a system of tubular wells in a swamp in the eastern part of the grounds. The board is informed that the lake water is pumped into a tank, having a capacity of about 5000 gallons, each morning and is subsequently used for various purposes, including sprinkling the drives and walks, washing floors, etc. Water is then pumped from the group of tubular wells in the swamp in the rear of the theatre into the same tank.

Analyses of the water show that that which is drawn from the wells while affected by an excess of iron, is probably safe for drinking, but the water which is drawn from the pond is very badly polluted. There is no doubt that with the present arrangement, by which water is drawn a part of the time from the pond and at other times from the wells and distributed through the same tank and pipes, the drinking water supplied to the park is polluted to a greater or less extent and unsafe for drinking.

The board recommends that the drawing of water from the pond and its distribution through the same pipe system as the water supplied for drinking and cooking, be discontinued at once. If the pond water is used at all in the buildings or upon the grounds it should be supplied in such a way that there will be no danger that it may be used for drinking or cooking.

The well water, while affected, as already stated, by an excess of iron, is probably not seriously polluted at the present time, but it is probable that with continued use the quantity of iron in this water will increase so that it will become very objectionable for drinking and other purposes.

It is probable that wells can be so located at some point in this region that a simple supply of good water can be obtained for the requirements of the park, which will not be polluted or affected by an excess of iron. The board recommends that tests be made without delay with a view to securing that such a supply of good water be provided as possible to replace the water of the wells which contains an excess of iron.

It also appears that the provision for sanitary and similar conveniences at this park is entirely inadequate for the purpose, and that a serious nuisance is created there at times in the summer season. The board recommends that adequate and suitable sanitary facilities be provided, and that at the same time provision be made for the disposal of the sewage in such a way that it will not create a nuisance or pollute the waters of the pond.

The board is informed that the resort known as Mountain Rock on the northwesterly side of the pond is also under the control of your company. This resort is not apparently used to a very considerable extent, but it does not appear that any provision has been

BOSTON, May 21.—In police circles and in the shoe trade considerable interest is being taken in the affairs of Heczekiah C. Welch, who is set down in the Malden city directory as being a resident of 73 Elm street in that city. The Boston police have a warrant for his arrest on a charge of larceny of about $1000.

A week ago yesterday the West Lynn shoe manufacturing company, with a factory at Hampton, N. H., was petitioned into bankruptcy. Welch, although his name did not appear as an officer of the company, is said to have been practically the only man in it.

Welch has been missing from his usual haunts for several days, and the furniture and other things which he had in his salesrooms and office at 77 Boylston street have recently been sold out under a judgment secured by one of his creditors.

A warrant was sworn out at the instance of Charles W. Worcester, a notary and money lender of 15 School street, who alleges larceny by means of false pretenses. Mr. Worcester's lawyer is Clarence F. Eldredge. Yesterday Mr. Eldredge said that on Dec. 8, 1909, Welch went to Mr. Worcester and said he wanted to borrow $1000 on his own note, and for the purpose of securing the loan, Mr. Eldredge said, he offered a first mortgage for $10,000 on the plant of the West Lynn shoe company at Hampton, that he had $2200 worth of shoes in his salesrooms on Boylston street, that he had $5000 worth of personal property and that his office furniture alone was worth $700.

Mr. Eldredge said that the loan was made. Later on Mr. Worcester found reason for uneasiness at having invested in the note. One of the things that was found out, Mr. Eldredge said, was that instead of owning the $10,000 first mortgage on the manufacturing plant at Hampton, Welch had pledged the loan with the Federal trust company of Boston for practically its face value. Mr. Worcester brought suit and got a judgment, on which he sent an officer to levy on the $2200 worth of shoes and the office furniture at 77 Boylston street. Mr. Eldredge said that instead of finding $2200 worth of shoes there the sheriff discovered only about $20 worth. He levied on them and on the office furniture.

At the sale the sheriff realized on the office fittings something like $200. Some years ago Welch lived in Haverhill and was known there as a good fellow personally and as a successful shoe salesman. He was at that time and still is a member of the Penitentiary club, a leading social organization, and he has been a frequent visitor there since he removed his family, consisting of a wife and three children, to Malden.

Last Saturday night, the night of the day on which Welch's shoe manufacturing company was petitioned into bankruptcy, a letter addressed to the Penitentiary club was received there by Welch. The letter purported to have been written in Malden and in it Welch said he wished his fellow clubmen to understand that there was no truth in the charges being made against him nor in the gossip concerning his financial condition.

The Boston police tried to find Welch in Malden, but were unsuccessful. It was said he went to Baltimore, but he can't be located in that city.

Welch is about 40 years old, is a member of several clubs, it is said, and has been a liberal spender. He has been well known in certain of the high priced hotels in Boston.

do not show the grand total of merchandise sent from the United States to Panama during this period, since such portion of the supplies for the Panama canal and those engaged in its construction as were sent from time to time upon government vessels were not included in the figures reaching the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, by which this statement of trade with Panama is reported. Just what proportion of the merchandise sent to Panama has been for use in the construction of the canal cannot be definitely determined, though the British minister at Panama recently estimated that about one-fifth of the total imports of the republic were for the commissaries of the canal zone, approximately two-fifths for canal supplies and the remaining two-fifths for general use.

The trade with Panama has steadily grown and the figures of both imports and exports for the fiscal year 1910 will exceed those of any earlier year. In 1904 the earliest fiscal year for which figures have been presented by the bureau of statistics, imports of Panama were valued at $440,747, and in 1909 were $1,055,887 and in 1909 were $1,076,394. Meantime exports to the republic show an even more rapid growth, having advanced from $979,724 in 1904 to $12,450,289 in 1909 and $14,707,539 in 1910. In the nine months ending with March, 1910, imports were $1,050,048, against $1,125,452 in the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year, and exports $15,303,585 against $12,505,607, indicating that for the complete fiscal year which ended June 30 next the imports from the Latin American republic will exceed 2 million and the exports there to 20 million dollars.

Bananas, vegetable ivory, india rubber and cattle hides comprise the principal articles imported from Panama. In the nine months ending with March, the latest period for which detailed statistics are available, the imports of bananas aggregated 2,500,000 bunches, valued at $604,551; india rubber, 292,538 pounds valued at $214,976; vegetable ivory, 4,689,616 pounds valued at $147,261; and hides of cattle, 617,612 pounds valued at $67,855.

Iron and steel manufactures, meat and dairy products, breadstuffs, lumber, coal, cotton manufactures, explosives, cement, boots and shoes, and cars, carriages, etc., constitute by far the larger part of the merchandise exported to Panama; while soap, malt liquors, sugar, illuminating oil, scientific instruments, india rubber manufactures, fruits and nuts, eggs, copper manufactures, chemicals and lubricating oil are also exported in considerable quantities.

With few exceptions, all of the articles named show increased exports in the present year. The value of iron and steel, in the nine months ending with March of the year named, increased from $3,553,691 in 1909 to $4,022,222 in 1910; the principal growth occurring in structural iron and steel, pumps and pumping machinery, from sheets and plates, and wire; while steel rails, building hardware, and miscellaneous decreased. Meat and dairy products as a whole increased from $1,162,733 in 1909 to $1,207,229 in 1910; and boards, deals and planks, from $516,539 to $519,388; breadstuffs, from $541,108 to $628,555; the growth occurring chiefly in flour, oatmeal, coal, from $677,458 to $996,252; cement, from $27,345 to $702,551; explosives, from $27,669 to $252,631; cotton manufactures, from $521,576 to $803,968; and boots and shoes, from $317,450 to $478,352. The comparisons in each case being between the nine months of the time named ending with March, 1909, and those for the corresponding months of the current year.

By Order of the Board.

THE U. S. TRADE

WITH PANAMA WILL EXCEED $22,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Trade between the United States and the Republic of Panama will exceed $22,000,000 in the fiscal year which ends next month, and for the seven years since the Republic of Panama came into existence will approximate $100,000,000. About nine-tenths of this total, speaking in very round terms, is merchandise exported from the United States to Panama and about one-tenth for merchandise imported into the country from that Republic. CONTEMPT OF COURT Is the Charge Against Boston Automobile Dealer

BOSTON, May 21.—Judge Bond in the second session of the superior court yesterday heard contempt proceedings against Alvan T. Fuller, proprietor of an automobile repair factory in Brighton, resulting, it is alleged, from the discharge of Adolph P. C. Martins, an employee, last Saturday because of the latter's service for six weeks on the jury.

From the evidence it appeared that Mr. Fuller had no personal knowledge of the matter, but that Martins was discharged by Alfred P. Wellburn, assistant superintendent. The latter said he had no objection to Martins' work, was unsatisfactory. He came from Detroit a year ago December to take charge of the factory. There are 250 men under him.

Some time in February Martins went to work at the factory. Later he was summoned to serve on the jury in the second session of the superior court. Wellburn asked him to see if he could get excused, as he knew such a thing was done frequently in Detroit. While on the jury Martins worked every Saturday and at such time as he was not actually sitting on a jury.

He was discharged Saturday at the suggestion of Joseph B. Grady, foreman of the department in which he worked. Mr. Wellburn admitted that in the middle of April, while Martins was on the jury, a new man was hired to do his work, and he said the work was better done by the latter.

Grady corroborated the testimony of Wellburn as to the cause of the discharge of Martins. He denied that the jury service had anything to do with the discharge. James E. Heines, blacksmith at the factory for 15 years, said he saw Martins' work was satisfactory. John Nemer, who took Martins' place, said he obtained the job through an advertisement.

Martins testified that when he showed Wellburn his jury summons he said: "Fuller hires me to work here, but he won't let me do my duty." On Saturday last he said Grady came to him and said: "I'm very sorry to say that Wellburn says you are through." Witness related his experience in his line of work and said the only instance where fault was found with his work was in regard to a spring which was not finished when attention was called to it. He never had any difficulty with anyone at Fuller's, and told the judge that he was satisfied if he had not done jury duty he would not have been discharged.

The court will hear further evidence next week.

Judge Wait in the superior criminal court yesterday denied the motions of counsel for George F. Crocker and others for leave to examine evidence and exhibits presented to the grand jury on which indictments were returned, accusing them of adding in the alleged bribery of certain jurors in the Crocker will case. The court, however, denied the motion as to the exhibits without prejudice, suggesting that the defendants specify the particular exhibits that they wish to examine.

A jury in the third session of the superior court, before Judge Harris yesterday, awarded Nell McNeil $18,350 damages against the Boston Elevated Railway company in its suit for damages for injury to the hotel Caprio property, 1204-1206 Washington street, by reason of the construction and operation of the elevated road. He bought the estate in 1898, paying $25,500. The petitioner's experts estimated the damage at from $25,000 to $42,000, and the experts for the company estimated it from $5000 to $7500.

GLADSTONE CLUB EDWARD BARRY, ENGLAND'S GREATEST

Engages Quarters at Washington Park

Boxing in the open was the treat afforded the members of the Gladstone club at Washington park last evening the club having engaged the park for permanent quarters. One of the objections raised against the club by the authorities was they had no permanent quarters. Now they have them with dressing rooms, shower baths and plenty of room for all kinds of athletics. The ring was pitched directly in front of the grand stand and was brilliantly lighted. Kid Wright of Boston and Kid Hoyle of Lowell furnished the principal bout and they went along nicely until the fifth when Hoyle was awarded the decision on a foul. The management announced that Jimmie Moriarty and Tom Sawyer of Portland will appear at the next meeting which will be held next Thursday evening.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

A very pretty and select dancing party was held in the town hall, North Chelmsford, last night by the Vincent Girls. The hall was very tastefully decorated with wild flowers and the stage was completely banked with flowers. In the left corner of the hall was situated the matrons' corner, where the matrons were kept busy all evening receiving the guests. At eight o'clock a concert program was started to the music of Thayer's orchestra of Portland, and at 8:30 the strains of the first waltz were started and dancing continued until eleven o'clock when a late car returned to during which ice cream and cake were served in the lower hall. After intermission dancing was continued until 12 o'clock when a late car returned to Lowell with the matrons' group which was present from the city. The matrons of the evening were: Mrs. Frank Mallory, Mrs. Patrick Ward, Mrs. William J. Quigley and Mrs. Arthur Malheur. The party was in charge of the Misses Jennie Mallory and Lillian Malheur.

AN UP-TO-DATE STOVE

Do you realize there is no longer any reason why you should use a coal range? Oil is cheaper than coal; it is lighter and easier to handle, and gives an intense heat. Provided you have the right stove, oil is more economical, cleaner and less trouble. Have you seen the

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

The accompanying illustration gives you only a rough idea of its appearance. You really can't appreciate it until you either use it yourself, or talk to someone who has used it. It does everything that a coal range will do—except heat the room. The New Perfection Oil Cook-

Stove will do anything, from heating a kettle of water to cooking a course dinner, but it won't heat a room. It doesn't "smell," it doesn't smoke. It can't get out of order. Light it and it is ready. Turn it down and it is out. Only a woman who knows the trouble of carrying coal and cooking in a hot kitchen can appreciate what it means to have a clean, perfect stove that will cook anything, boil, bake or roast, and yet won't heat the kitchen. How is it done? The flame is controlled in turquoise-blue enamel chimneys, and directed against the bottom of pot, pan, kettle or oven, and only there. The flame operates exactly where it is needed—and nowhere else. With this stove your kitchen is cool.

The nickel finish with the bright blue of the chimneys makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

Fire Destroyed a Stove Foundry In Boston

BOSTON, May 21.—Fire early today destroyed the stove foundry of the Pilgrim Iron Foundry company on Locust street, South Boston, at a loss estimated at about $26,000. The building was an old wooden structure of two stories. The flames, which started from an over-heated furnace, have caused illness to about 40 men.

FOR PLAYGROUNDS

NEW YORK, May 21.—Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes is convinced that the sociological workers who would do most good cannot better employ themselves than in finding some way in which factory girls may be stimulated to take an active, vital interest in their work.

Mrs. Stokes, herself once an East Side factory girl, knows the dull, dead existence of that life. She knows that the factory girl at work is like a machine, sticking doggedly and unthinkingly at her work, ready to grasp at any form of excitement which may present itself as soon as factory hours are over.

Mrs. Stokes is to take up the subject at the coming congress of the Playground Association of America, which takes place this year in Rochester, June 7-11.

In her efforts to bring about a change in conditions Mrs. Stokes says that she was surprised by the hearty approval which was given to her work by the employers.

"Interest the factory girls," said one large factory owner, "and you will not only help her morally but she will do better work; and as a contented employee is not constantly changing, factory owners will be the first to aid in any feasible plan."

Pitcher Had Control of Situation

BROOKTON, May 21.—Although Brockton twice had three men on bases, Lowell returned home with a 3 to 2 victory yesterday. Wolfgang, the former Boston National pitcher, was able to control the situation at critical moments. Lowell scored in the first inning, a single, a double and a double steal netting one run. The game was tame throughout, although the double play by Dulin, McGovern and Shannon was a pretty piece of work. The score:

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, May 21.—More than 10,000 members of men's bible classes from all parts of the world marched down Pennsylvania avenue late yesterday and around the capitol on their way to a monster mass meeting in Convention hall. This was the feature of yesterday's session of the World's Sunday School association, now in convention here.

Meanwhile the broad steps on the east side of the capitol were crowded with thousands of women delegates to the convention and other Sunday school workers. To the tune of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and other hymns, the paraders marched, bearing banners with Christian mottoes.

Practically every country in the world and every state in the union was represented in the parade, and the American, British, German and other flags of the nations floated on the breeze by the side of various church banners.

As Convention hall was not large enough to accommodate all the men, another meeting was held in Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal church. Simultaneously two meetings for women were in progress, at one of which Mrs. Sherman, wife of the vice president of the United States, presided.

Rev. N. Tamura of Japan emphatically declared his country would be a Christian nation in due time. At one of the other day meetings, T. H. Yun, a native Korean and president of the Anglo-Korean school, referring to the condition of the Hermit Kingdom and its apparent subservience to Japan, declared that the evangelization of the kingdom was the only hope of relief from "fair promises and foul policies."

Rev. Edwin H. Edwards, in charge of work in East Africa, declared that dollars withheld in the United States for missionary work in the dark continent meant millions lost in commercial advantages which could only follow the preaching of the gospel and the civilization of the land.

MORIARTY WON

But the Bout Was Slow and Uninteresting

About 50 Lowell sports went to Manchester last evening to see the 15 round bout between Jimmie Moriarty of this city and Frank Peron of Pawtucket, R. I., and most of them were sorry they went, for while Moriarty received the decision he didn't show his usual form and the bout was slow and uninteresting.

Both men did more sparring than fighting, and no decisive blows were struck during the 45 minutes of fighting time. Time and again the referee was obliged to urge them to get closer, as neither seemed to care to engage in any hard work.

The first few rounds were fairly even, neither man having the slightest advantage. Neither Moriarty nor Peron was marked up at all, and until the eighth round each appeared as fresh as when he entered the ring.

The eighth round was all Moriarty's, and for the first time blood was drawn. Peron's lip and nose commenced to bleed. The audience was far from satisfied with the work, and constant hissing was the result.

As the bout drew to a close, the men warmed up to the work a little more, and had they started in as they ended, the bout would have been interesting. The final round was all Moriarty's, and Peron was in much the worse condition at the close. Although Moriarty had the better of the actual fighting, it was felt that he had not worked his hardest, and consequently the decision of the referee was not received entirely with pleasure by the fighting fans present.

The preliminaries were not much more interesting than the final. Both were short and sweet. The semi-final was due to go eight rounds, between Jack Murphy of South Boston and Kid O'Brien of Lawrence. As the men entered the ring it was easily seen that Murphy was in much the better condition, and had more weight than his opponent. O'Brien was no match for the heavier man, and was repeatedly floored in the first round. He came back well in the second round, and for a time it looked as though a good bout might develop. Training shaved, however, and the superior weight told on O'Brien. He was sent to the floor once in the third round, and in the fourth was so pitifully weak that the referee stopped the bout, awarding the decision to Murphy.

The preliminary, between Young Lewis of Concord and Young Pleasant of Manchester, was also a short affair. In the first round Pleasant lost his nerve repeatedly, and was sent to the mat for counts of six and seven. He had the good sense to retire after this round, as his seconds saw that he was outclassed.

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Ploffe, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Emperor Wilhelm introduced Col. Roosevelt as "the distinguished colonel of the Rough Riders." That title is liable to excite the envy of Col. Cody or Pawnee Bill.

The New Hampshire folks usually keep an eye open to the main chance. They would like to take the auto race from Lowell, but this is a great city for autos. We are to have auto races and soon a prosperous auto factory.

BOILER EXPLOSIONS AND HOW PREVENTED.

There was a fearful boiler explosion at Canton, O., on Tuesday, with the loss of about thirty lives and fifty injured. This is a danger ever present in large factories unless thoroughly qualified men are in charge.

The laws of Massachusetts are very strict on all matters bearing upon the prevention of such accidents. It is a menace to the community and especially to the people working in the vicinity to let an incompetent man work around a boiler. If such a man is given any responsibility, or if working about boilers, unless he be closely watched, he is liable to cause an explosion. There are numerous ways, all very simple and apparently harmless, in which this can be done. Hence it is necessary to exercise great caution in guarding against such catastrophes. It is well that only men who are certified to be competent by state authority are forbidden to work on boilers. That law has lessened the number of explosions. At present it is strictly enforced by the state police. Inspector Moran is a frequent visitor in all the factories of this district, and he insists upon the observance of the law in every detail. Were it otherwise we should have boiler explosions as a result of incompetent men being employed and because of neglect on the part of competent men. One is as bad as the other.

In this connection it might be well to mention that in most of our local factories economy is carried to such extremes that the boiler rooms are not properly lighted. As a result the men in charge cannot always see as clearly as they should, and their sight is injured by turning from the bright glare of the furnace to the semi-darkness, or the reverse. This is one of the causes of eye trouble, and every man in charge of a battery of great large boilers needs light and needs the full use of sight. In some cases things of this kind are the indirect cause of explosions that are attended with the worst results.

TO MAKE THE MERRIMACK NAVIGABLE.

Often in the past has the subject of making the Merrimack navigable from Lowell to the sea been discussed; often, too, has it been reported upon as feasible by engineers, but never has anybody carried the project far enough to make it successful. The appropriation was the one thing needed and nobody ever seemed to work hard enough to secure that. Our distinguished senators from this state have been too busily engaged running the republican party of the country to give the necessary time and attention to a practical matter of this kind. Our congressman, too, has been so much engrossed with other interests that until recently it never occurred to him that a portion of the river and harbor appropriations should be secured to make the Merrimack navigable for the accommodation of the very important manufacturing cities located along the banks of the river.

In a speech at the state board of trade banquet in Boston the other night Congressman Moore of Pennsylvania told how Massachusetts and New England had been neglected in the distribution of the large appropriations made by congress for the improvement of rivers and harbors. Most of the money has gone to the west and the south, while the east, which has immeasurably more tonnage, has had slight consideration by the powers in charge of apportioning the appropriation. Here is an extract from Congressman Moore's speech which indicates to what extent the Bay State, and in fact New England, have been discriminated against:

Massachusetts, in the rivers and harbors bill now in conference in congress, is to be given just $745,000. He pointed out that Boston has a yearly tonnage of about 33,000,000 tons and that its custom house returns are about $21,000,000 yearly to the government. Yet its representatives, owing to lack of enthusiasm on the part of the people, had obtained but $745,000 for rivers and harbors.

Florida, less important by a long way than the Bay State, is to receive $1,063,000; Alabama will get $2,053,000; Texas, $3,540,000; California, $1,640,000; Oregon, $2,400,000; Washington, $3,800,000; Kentucky, exclusive of the Ohio river, $1,124,000; the Ohio river, $3,325,000.

Texas had the Trinity river, with less tonnage than the Merrimack, made navigable for a distance of 500 miles. The expenditure contracted for on the Mississippi river will exceed $200,000,000.

Massachusetts is to receive this year $745,000 and has received since congress began to pay for such improvements about $19,000,000 a sum equal to the amount now being expended on the upper Mississippi river.

Vermont, Maine and Connecticut have been similarly discriminated against, but none of these states has the commerce or the claims upon such a large share of the appropriation as has Massachusetts. Here, then, is proof positive that our interests in congress have been neglected, that Senators Lodge and Crane have apparently never given this matter a thought. Senator Lodge, as usual, perhaps, has been too much absorbed in promoting the interests of other states and of the republican party to stand up for his own state. It is a well known fact that where the interests of the several states clash, he usually waives the claims of his own, while seeing other senators fighting strenuously for the states they represent.

It is time a different policy were pursued and time different men were sent to congress if we are to be discriminated against in such an important matter as the distribution of the deep waterways appropriations.

The Merrimack is a grand river that with a very moderate outlay can be made navigable to the sea so as to allow a freight business to be carried on between the three cities—Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Andover, with a resultant saving in freight charges that might net at least a million dollars a year.

SEEN AND HEARD

As a specimen of how practical the Japanese are with their knowledge of western science and determination to deal with disease, "The Java Times" says they have levied a tax on every household for two cents every month. A fine is imposed if the rate is not caught and shown at the time of inspection. All rats are examined, and if found to be plague infected the house from which they come has to be thoroughly disinfected. Twice a year every house and shop has to disgorge all its effects and be completely cleaned. The things go back only after sanitary inspection.

The park along the canal bank in Anne street is rounding into shape and the work will be pushed to a finish providing a little more money is appropriated. The completion of this park should not be delayed.

A couple just returned from Cuba had a strange experience in a Havana restaurant, where they went for five o'clock tea. "We had hardly taken our places at the table," so runs the story, "when two young men took possession of the one next to us and immediately began a loud and heated dialogue in Spanish, which we did not understand. After a few minutes one of the men arose, made a threatening gesture, after which the other drew a knife from his pocket, and we, fearing to be witnesses to a murder, made our escape to the street and hurried home. The next day we were at the same restaurant as the guests of a Havana citizen, and chanced to be seated at the same table where the murderous encounter took place the day before, and we spoke of it. The waiter overheard our conversation, grinned broadly, and in explanation told our host that the fight had been prearranged for the benefit of a moving picture show and that when we returned to New York we might see several others who saw the dry-scorched almost to death and running."

REMEMBERING

Far hence in the infinite silence How we shall learn and forget, Know and be known, and remember Only the name of regret.

Sown in that ample quiet, We shall break sheath and climb, Seeds of a single desire, In the heart of the apple time.

We shall grow wise as the flowers, And know what the bluebirds sing, When the hands of the grasses unravel The wind in the hollows of spring.

And out of the breathless summer The aspen leaves will stir At your low sweet breath, to remember The imperfect things we were.

—Exchange.

The tall wags the astronomers. The Concord river in the vicinity of the bridge in Rogers street is in a deplorably filthy condition. On one side of the river is a dead pig and on the opposite side a dead cat. The river is filled with all kinds of filth and there is enough to create disease. Many complaints have been heard regarding it and it is the duty of the board of health to attend to such matters the board should get busy at that point at once.

DOUBLE CHARGE

ROBERT ACCUSED OF BIGAMY AND ABDUCTION

WINSTED, Conn., May 21.—The man who gave his name as William Robert, his age as 45, and his home as Boston, here Monday when he secured a license to marry Miss Mary Adams, who said she was 22 and lived in Boston, is wanted by the authorities for alleged bigamy, abduction and perjury. The couple were married by Justice George A. Sanford.

George W. Adams, father of the girl-bride, came to Winsted, yesterday from East Windsor Hill, where he and his wife are staying with a friend, and alleged to Prosecutor Blodgett and Justice Sanford that the man who had eloped with and married his daughter was the girl's uncle, William Robert, of Hot Springs, Ark., and that he is 54 years old.

His daughter's full name, she said, was Ella Mary Adams and her correct age 20. "She is just out of the high school," he added, "and never saw Boston." Adams, who is a marble cutter, told the authorities that his wife and Robert's wife who lives in Hot Springs, are sisters. The Adams family left a small village near Rutland, Vt., last July and went to Hot Springs, where they resided in the same house with the Baldros. They returned east for certain reasons.

Last Sunday afternoon Miss Adams, accompanied by her father and a girl friend, went to Hartford to attend a meeting. Miss Adams left the hall before the meeting was concluded and she has not been seen by her father since, he alleges.

She and Roberts are supposed to be in New York, where the police have been notified.

KILLED HER CHILD

Mother Attempted to Take Her Own Life

SPRINGFIELD, May 21.—Seized with a sudden fit of madness, Mrs. Jennie Bergquist, 25 years old, late yesterday cut the throat of her three year old daughter Mabel, placed the dying child in its crib, turned the knife upon herself, inflicting wounds that physicians say will probably result fatally and then, bleeding profusely, jumped into a bath tub and turned on the water in an attempt to drown herself.

When her husband returned to the Bergquist home at 42 Malden street early last evening the mutilated body of his little daughter was the first sight that greeted him. Following a mission trail he found his wife in the bath tub weak from her wounds, but none the worse for her attempt to drown herself.

Until a day or two ago no evidence of Mrs. Bergquist's abnormal mental condition was noted. Yesterday, however, she was seized by her husband several times with fits of insanity, culminating late in the day in the murder of her child and probably of herself.

Ever since the birth of little Mabel, the mother had lavished affection upon the child. Mrs. Bergquist is now at the Springfield hospital, where small hope is held out for her recovery.

ACTOR STEVENS DEAD

CHICAGO, May 20.—Ogden Stevens, a character actor, died yesterday. He was a member of the Lamp's club.

this the reply is that this is what the legislature has done for the last session. It has taken the chair from the wheel, and to adopt such legislation as is just and equitable to all.

A significant fact in this connection is that in the early days of the state classification of property was introduced by Massachusetts legislators, containing some of the very men who framed the constitution.

At all events, declare the manufacturers and merchants who are urging tax reform, there is no place for pessimism in this discussion. It is only because of the selfish narrow-mindedness of the few that this element has been infected with the discussion. They are striving to exert today upon the present legislature the "pressure of special interests" that they pretend to fear for the future.

They have also gone as far as they dared in the way of the real estate interest of the commonwealth is remembered. Real estate rights will be amply protected, because real estate is big and powerful enough to look out for itself.

MEN ARRESTED

Said to Have Held Girls Prisoners

NEW YORK, May 21.—The police of Elizabethport, N. J., yesterday rescued from a coal barge Elizabeth Kelley and Ellen Goodwin of Boston, two girls of 17 and 18, respectively, who were arrested aboard the barge Sunday in Boston harbor and had been held prisoners. On their statement Jerome Malloy and Thomas Hirsch, two members of the barge crew, were arrested. The girls accuse the men of attacking them during the voyage to New York and also say their alleged captors planned to place them in an immoral house.

The balloon had been in the air 22 hours and had covered 450 miles.

Representatives of Posts 42, 120 and 185, Grand Army of the Republic, met last night in Post 120 hall in Merrimack street to complete the arrangements for the observance of Memorial Sunday on May 29th and Memorial day.

There were 45 delegates in attendance and Chief of Staff George E. Worthen reported that nearly all the details had been completed with the exception of the roster of parade which will be ready for publication within a few days.

Earl A. Thissell, commander of Post 42, who is to be the chief marshal of the Memorial Day parade, presided at last night's meeting and he announced that the orator for Memorial Sunday would be Rev. Alexander Blackburn, D. D., now of Baker City, Oregon, but formerly pastor of the First Baptist church here, and a comrade of one of the local posts. The full program for Sunday, at the First Congregational church, at 2.30 o'clock, May 29, follows: Hymn, by the chorus, with organ accompaniment, by Solon W. Stevens; Scripture reading, Rev. James E. Gregg, pastor of the Kirk Street church; anthem, "Praise Ye the Faithful"; chorus; invocation, Rev. Joseph W. Stephan, pastor of the Worthen Street M. E. church; chorus, "Gone to Their Rest"; roll call, with quartet and playing of bugle, the latter by Roscoe McDaniel; chorus, "The G. A. R. Chorus"; Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, pastor of the Eliot church; prayer, Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham Street Methodist church; solo, "Forever With the Lord," Miss Stella Wilson; remarks, Mayor John F. On Monday, May 30, services of welcome from the various posts will decorate the graves of departed veterans.

in the Lowell, Edison, St. Patrick's and St. Joseph's cemeteries. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the three posts will gather at their respective headquarters, and about the same time the militia, high school regiment and other organizations will report to the chief marshal on the South common. At 4 o'clock the parade will leave the common. The line of march will be the same as in previous years, Thordike to Middlesex, Central, Merrimack streets to the Ladd and Whitney monument, where brief exercises will be held. The line will then re-form and march to Tremont st. and thence down Merrimack street, past city hall, where the mayor and the city government will review the parade. The chief marshal will review the line at the junction of Dutton and Merrimack streets. The various organizations will then be dismissed and the Grand Army veterans will go to their halls, where supper will be served, followed by exercises. Mayor McManis has been invited to attend the campfire at Post 42 hall, in the Memorial building, and other speakers expected to be present are: Rev. John Burns of St. Peter's church, Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., of the Immaculate Conception church, and Rev. J. W. Stephan of the Worthen Street M. E. church. At Post 185 hall Mayor McManis has been invited and Rev. E. Victor Bigelow will be in attendance. Rev. George F. Kennell will be one of the leading speakers at Post 120 hall.

TEXTILE SCHOOL

Closing Exercises to be Held June 3

The commencement exercises, class 1910, Lowell Textile school, will be held on Friday afternoon, June 3, at 2.30 o'clock. The exercises will be held in the assembly hall and the school will be open for inspection after the exercises.

Someone has asked relative to the diploma of the Lowell Textile school. The answer is found in the school bulletin. The diploma of the school is awarded upon the satisfactory completion of any of the regular courses, covering not less than three years, except where entrance is to an advanced standing. In such cases at least one year's attendance is required.

The National Cotton Manufacturers association offers annually a medal to that member of the graduating class from the cotton manufacturing course, selected because of his standing and general ability, as best fitted to receive it.

The daily work of the student forms an important part of his record, and no student will be awarded the diploma unless this portion of his record is clear.

In cases of either day or evening students, irregular attendance, lack of punctuality, neglect of either school or home work, disorderly or ungentlemanly conduct or general insubordination, are considered good and sufficient reasons for the immediate suspension of a student, and a report to the trustees for such action as they deem necessary to take.

ABOUT AUTO TIRES

Lecture to the Lowell Auto Club

A very interesting illustrated lecture on tires was given before the members of the Lowell Automobile club last night at its headquarters on the top floor of the Richardson hotel. The lecturer started his talk by describing the manner in which the sap is taken from the trees and following along went into the details of tire making.

The illustrations consisted of several excellent reels of Edison motion pictures, taken, for the most part at the plant of the Goodrich Rubber company, in Akron, Ohio. The earlier pictures showed the Brazilian Indians at work getting the rubber sap from trees in the forests. Later the process of solidifying and purifying the rubber was shown. The most illuminating portion of the lecture concerned the almost numberless processes used in the making of the tire. The building up of the inner tubes and the testing of them by means of water pressure was a revelation. F. M. Tillisch, direct from the Akron plant, who is making a tour of the country, was the lecturer. Accompanying him was Howard B. Lurie, Boston manager for the company. Mr. Tillisch, in the course of his lecture, spoke of the course here and in Tyngsboro, and said it was one of the best he had ever ridden over. The evening closed with a series of motion pictures of the races held at Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 8 to 13, of last year. John O. Heinze, president of the Lowell club, presided during the evening.

The comet's appendage was spread out at the end through several degrees. Despite the bright moonlight, the tail appeared distinct. The comet set an hour and fifty minutes after the sun. Director Hutton said that last night's observations show that the comet has passed far beyond the earth and taken its tail with it.

CREW IS SAVED

Seven Men at Pumps for 24 Hours

VINEYARD HAVEN, May 21.—A losing combat of 24 hours with the invading waters, unbroken except to take snatches of food, was ended last evening for the crew of the little schooner Sarah & Lucy, which had sprung a leak last night off Cape Cod, when she was grounded in this harbor, after being towed in by the revenue cutter Acushnet.

The Sarah & Lucy was bound from Boston to New York with a cargo of copper chinders, having left the former port on May 18.

It was wireless telegraphy that worked out the salvation of the Sarah & Lucy and her crew of seven men. The little vessel communicated her plight to the Pollock Rip lightship yesterday morning, and that beacon promptly notified the revenue cutter Acushnet, at Woods Hole. The Acushnet arrived alongside at 3 p. m. yesterday, when there were 31 feet of water in the Sarah & Lucy's hold.

For several hours the men, fatigued by their long vigil, had felt the swish of the waters mount higher on their legs as they stood at the pumps, working for their lives. Their labors continued even after the Acushnet took their vessel in tow, but were at an end when the Sarah & Lucy was hoisted into the mud in the harbor here.

A steam pump probably will be set at work to clear the vessel, after which she will be temporarily repaired and later towed to her destination.

NOW that the indefatigable Teddy is coming home again we have the jungle parasol to greet him with. As its name indicates, the handles show the heads of different African animals and birds he hunted. The fame of a man is indeed great when he inspires even articles of feminine fancy.

Exercise and Figure Culture

TO be the possessor of a pretty face does not fall to the lot of every woman, but the attainment of a graceful figure is within the reach of all. Even a pretty face loses much of its charm if its owner is handicapped by a badly put up figure. On the other hand, a girl whose face has no pretensions to beauty claims her fair meed of praise if her figure is graceful and pleasing to the eye, and to attain this strict attention to diet and a few simple rules for hygienic living are all that is necessary. First and foremost comes the question of exercise. Women may be classed, generally speaking, as those who overexercise and those who do not take enough exercise. For example, a young and energetic woman will indulge in games that demand too great muscular strain, with the result that she becomes overfatigued and no benefit comes of the exercise. Moderation should be the keynote of exercise if it is to be health giving.

This is an age of athletics. Girls of all ages crave for sports, and no girls' school is considered well equipped without its gymnasium. All this is fine, provided the rapidly developed muscles are not overtaxed. For women who are no longer in their girlhood the best exercise is walking. Even a delicate woman will profit from walking if she indulges in it with moderation. Exercise should never be taken fasting or too soon after a meal. The minimum time devoted to outdoor exercise is one hour daily, but it is better to spend several hours in the open air. Nothing is more depressing to most women than the fact that they are growing fat, yet the remedy lies in their own hands. Follies such as vinegar drinking, etc., have been relegated to obscurity. They merely checked the formation of flesh by injuring the digestive organs. Careful dieting is, however, necessary, but not to the point of semistarvation. Fatty and starchy foods, sugar and beverages such as cocoa, chocolate, etc., must be avoided. Few women overeat at mealtime, but they are guilty of great indiscretion in the matter of diet between meals. More care in these matters, combined with regular exercise, will soon reduce overstout figures to medium size.

RECIPE OF OLD HOUSEKEEPER.

An old housekeeper utilizes the inexpensive part of a shoulder of lamb in a tasty stew. She buys a whole forequarter and cuts off chops enough from it for another meal. Then she rubs the remaining portion of the meat with a damp cloth and then with salt and pepper, puts it into a roasting pan and bakes it for half an hour. At the end of that time she turns a cupful of boiling water into the pan and bakes and bastes until the meat is tender. About a quarter of an hour before it is to be served she sprinkles the roast with a couple of onions that have been minced very fine and continues to bake and baste as before. When the meat is done she removes it to a hot platter, drains the fat from the liquor in the pan and thickens the gravy with cornstarch to a cream consistency. She often serves with the roast potatoes, boiled whole, with cream sauce over them, string beans and tomato salad.

The Servant Who Breaks and Wastes

MOST housekeepers, I think, must have come across that demon of destruction at least once, if not more, during the course of their housekeeping lives. Have we not sighed hopelessly at seeing our treasures smashed one after the other by those rough hands that are incapable of holding any article without dropping it?

To such an individual lacking the artistic sense the value of a piece of china is generally judged by the price paid for it in cash. Once I had a little glass which was bought at a trifling cost on the top of the Broken, in the Harz mountains. On it was written, "Gruss aus den Brocken." I had had it for years on my mantelpiece, and every time I looked at it I remembered what a pleasant excursion I had at that time with some German friends.

One morning that pink glass with the "greeting from the Brocken" lay in a dozen pieces on the floor, dropped by hands that took it up ostensibly to dust it. I felt a pang of regret and indignation as I looked at the disappearance of another one of my treasured souvenirs and heard the stereotyped phrase, "I am so sorry, miss, but I didn't mean to break it." Perhaps not, but it wouldn't have been broken had the destructive servant paid more attention to her work and less to her reflection in the mirror over the mantelpiece.

If you ask a servant how she managed to crack a meat dish or break off the handle of the vegetable dish the reply is invariably "I am sure I don't know how it happened, ma'am, for I didn't do it." But I can tell that servant how it happened. She either knocked it against the spigot or banged it on the kitchen table. What matters it to a servant whether she breaks, chips or cracks your crockery since she is only serving you for a time and the articles she destroys are not hers? And the only redress or possible cure for this breakage is to require the maid to replace the article when it is at all within her means to do so.

In regard to waste, some of the favorite items that disappear quickly are matches and soap. Have you ever watched a servant strike a match? To begin with, she scrapes at the box instead of striking it, and it is done so impatiently that at least five matches are thrown away, generally on the floor, before the sixth gets alight.

I have seen washing and cleaning soaps left in pails or basins where they soon dwindled to nothing. I once asked a servant who wasted her mistress' soap whether she would continue that system of leaving it in the water when she started her own housekeeping on a few dollars a week. "Oh, no!" replied that ingenious creature. "I shouldn't be able to afford it then."

And so it goes all down the list of household necessities. In consequence they last only half as long as they ought to. DAPHNE DEAN.

The New Gloves

THERE are two decided innovations in gloves this season. For the glove to be worn with long sleeves there are white and black glace kid gloves stitched to show the contrast and with heavy embroidery of the same on the backs. They are exceedingly smart for street wear, but that will not prevent many women from adhering to the less striking all white or all black glove.

For wear with short sleeved costumes long suede gloves in fairly light tones of tan and gray are worn. In making a selection of suede gloves it should be remembered that it is only the best quality that will give satisfaction and that even so they are not as economical as glace kid because they do not clean so well.

THE CHANTICLEER DOLL.

Should you see a small maiden fondling a queer looking toy which is neither a Teddy bear nor a doll, but a combination of both, do not be surprised. She probably has a dotting aunt or mamma who has given her one of the newest toys, that's all.

For now the chanticleer has pushed his way into the toy kingdom—"strutted in" might be a more appropriate term.

The chanticleer this new toy is called. The body is of the soft woolly stuff which has been used for Teddy bears. The body and legs are of this stuff, while the arms, or wings, are of red and green felt and are shaped like a rooster's wings.

There is a little bisque face, but the head is of felt in bright red, shaped like a comb.

BREAKFAST JACKET.

For a breakfast jacket have Japanese silk and cut it hip length, with point the front and straight across at the back. Loose pointed sleeves should be bound with ribbons and a simple neck binding used. Morning jackets are simple and usually made of fine silks.

TIMBALES OF SPINACH.

Pick over two quarts of spinach, wash thoroughly (changing the water many times), add salt and let it boil for ten minutes. Boiling water may be added when the spinach is set to cook, or it may be cooked in the water that clings to it by turning the spinach frequently. Drain in a colander, pressing out all the water. Chop very fine. Add half teaspoonful of salt, half teaspoonful of sugar, half teaspoonful of white pepper, one-fourth teaspoonful of grated nutmeg and the yolks of three eggs. Set over the fire and stir constantly while the mixture heats a little. Turn into buttered timbale mold (a tiny round of paper should be set in the bottom of the mold before it is buttered), set the molds in a pan of boiling water and let cook ten minutes. Serve with rich brown sauce to which three tablespoonfuls of sherry and a tablespoonful of liquid from a mushroom have been added.

HOT CHERRY PUDDING.

It will soon be cherry time, and the following recipe will be found useful: The weight of two eggs in butter, sugar and flour, half a teaspoonful of baking powder, one dessertspoonful of cherry brandy. Beat the butter to a cream; add the sugar and eggs and beat five minutes; add the flour, baking powder and the cherry brandy. Lastly stir in half a pound of fine ripe stoned cherries. Turn into a well buttered pudding dish, cover with buttered paper and steam for two hours. Serve with good custard sauce.

ROOT CELERY.

Not every one knows there is a variety of celery which makes a large root like a turnip and that serves as an excellent salad vegetable. The seed is sown and the plants are planted exactly the same as the better known varieties, but when the roots have grown large enough they are dug up as wanted. The tops are trimmed off, and the bulbs are then scraped and boiled until tender. They are then sliced and laid in weak vinegar, to be served with cream or French dressing the same as potato salad. The flavor is mild and delicious.

INVALID PUDDING.

Boil three tablespoonfuls of suet and raisins in two cupfuls of milk, then add two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch dissolved in a little cold milk, two well beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, half a teaspoonful of sugar and a pinch of salt. Cook for five minutes, then add a cupful of lemon juice and a cupful of cream. Pour into a buttered dish and bake in the oven until set.

The Bathing Girl of 1910

A Good Deodorizer

WITH the approach of hot weather a number of women suffer from excessive bodily moisture. If not carefully guarded against this is fatal to all personal attractiveness.

The woman who perspires must not stint on laundry bills. She should never wear underclothes that are not above suspicion as far as odor is concerned.

Frequent bathing is a necessity. Besides a bath each morning the wash cloth should be freely used at other times.

A little ammonia or borax in warm water is excellent in case of excessive moisture. Dusting with talcum powder or orris root after the bath will be found helpful.

Shields should be changed frequently, and there are many kinds of odorless shields that are very good, although they are a trifle more expensive than the other varieties. Most shields can be washed, but they are seldom any good afterward.

There is less temptation to wear shields long if they are pinned in with small safety pins than when they are securely sewed to the waist.

A good powder is made of one part salicylic acid to three of boracic acid, the whole mixture scented with orris root.

Dust perspiring hands with boric acid before putting on gloves and bathe the hands often with cologne or alcohol. Ventilated gloves are a great help.

THE WOMAN WHO MOTORS.

"Don't rig yourself up in a lot of especially designed apparel for the lady motorist," is the advice of an expert woman motorist.

"I never wear anything more than an ordinary skirt, shirt waist and hat in warm weather or perhaps a duster, cap and goggles on tour. Add the necessary coat and wraps in winter and you have all the special costume a woman needs."

One of the greatest compliments, this same woman remarked, came from a friend who told her that she sat in a car so easily when driving that she looked as though she had grown in the automobile. This same motorist said, "If I kept a car for nothing else it would be worth while to have it so that I could join in taking the orphans from the asylum on their annual outing trip."

What a good world it would be if more people felt that way about some of the luxuries that they enjoy! A good thing is just twice as good when shared.

THE ART OF FLAVORING.

Frequently in making some familiar dish a good cook will discover some clever little variation in the way of flavoring or new ingredients that adds to the appearance and taste of the dish.

Thus one clever woman in preparing salads composed of celery and nuts or celery, nuts and apples discovered that if the nuts were first passed through the meat chopper and reduced to the consistency of coarse meal the flavor was much improved.

She shreds the celery rather fine and arranges the minced nuts into a little mold on each portion, finishing with a spoonful of thick mayonnaise.

Housekeepers who are on the alert for novelties now vary the croquettes served with soup by making them of rye bread instead of from the wheat loaf. The croquets are trimmed away from a thick slice of the bread, the surface of which is then rubbed over so lightly with clove or garlic cut in half. After being cut into the conventional squares or triangles they are transferred to a baking dish and browned delicately in a quick oven.

When something out of the ordinary run is desired for a home luncheon try creamed hazelnuts. Shell the nuts, blanch and boil until soft, then cover with cream sauce flavored delicately with sherry. This dainty can be served in ramequins or in paper cases. Serve pineapple ice cream or water ice in "surprise" style for the next guest luncheon. This is done by cutting the top carefully away, including the green spray itself, and scooping out the pulp with a spoon. Fill with water iced or frozen pineapple made from the pulp, replace the top and bring to table the pineapple flaunting its green top as before.

Two Examples of the Simple Type of Dress That Will Be Worn

THE simple frock is certainly being worked over-time this season, and much is done in the name of simplicity that would not be recognized except by name. For example, the frocks seen in the illustration are a type of simplicitas, as it is known in fashionland, but note the elaborate simplicity of the chiffon overdress, with its hand run tucks and the embroidered skirt and bodice trimming. Are they just one's ideas of the simple style?

Things Worth Knowing

AFTER each meal there should be a thorough airing of the lower floor. No matter how perfect the system of ventilation it is impossible to prevent cookery odors. This airing is doubly necessary should there be smokers in the family.

Frequently one uses only half a cabbage. To keep the remainder fresh wrap it in some of the loose leaves and then in damp paper. Put it in a cool place, and it will keep fresh and crisp for many days.

If the lamp wick moves up and down with difficulty a simple remedy is to pull out a few threads at either side of the wick. Mothers often wonder why their children's stockings wear out so much quicker than their own, and doubtless the reason is that little folk's footwear is subjected to far more heroic treatment by the average laundress. True, the feet of children's stockings often demand this, but hose would last much longer if they were allowed to soak for fifteen minutes before being rubbed on the board. The sand that has sifted through the shoes would then fall to the bottom and not be left in the stockings to saw holes as the cotton is rubbed up and down on the scrubbing board.

The knobs often come off the lids of pans and kettles. Should this happen

a screw may be inserted in the hole, with the head to the inside of the lid, and a cork screwed on the protruding end. This will make a knob that will not get hot and may be renewed when soiled.

DRESS LENGTHS.

The home dressmaker is frequently puzzled about the correct length of skirts. Two inches above the ground all round is the proper length of the tailored skirt of 1910.

The skirts of linen suits are nearly always made ankle length. This prevents them from rolling quickly around the bottom, and the short skirt in wash goods is always natty looking.

Separate skirts for outing wear are also ankle length. Tweeds, serges, linens and heavy cotton and brilliantine are the materials most used for these skirts.

For the double skirt—that is, two skirts of equal depth made from flouncing in fabrics of one kind—the lengths may be the same all round. And for house wear the round length is preferred. The skirt may escape the ground if for outdoor wear.

When skirts are made with the fashionable tunic drapery that runs into a point at the back a train effect is required. The skirt model that has a deep hem of a contrasting material is extremely trying to any but a tall woman. Such a model is made both long and short.

Evening and dinner frocks are all made with trains, but dancing frocks for young girls and young matrons are most popular in short lengths.

EMBROIDERY NOTES.

Of all flowers used in embroidery the wild carrot, or Queen Anne's lace, is the most exquisitely dainty.

Curran's make an effective bit of color on white linen and are not difficult to embroider.

A bridge score pad with a linen cover prettily embroidered in a conventional rose design is a useful Christmas gift.

A linen or denim shoe bag, with one Japanese motif of simple though striking design on each pocket, is a useful and attractive gift for a man.

TRICOT CLOTH CORSETS.

The desire of women for comfortable corsets, even though they are long, has brought about the use of tricot cloth in their making. This is a little stronger than the elastic webbing, which was not firm enough to maintain the figure in its proper lines. This new cloth is easy over the body, not pressing it down as corsets do. If one's hips cannot stand the pressure of bones, gusset of the webbing is inserted.

The "Clocks" on Stockings—Why?

THE meaning of the three marks on the back of a glove and the "clocks" on a stocking were two of the little mysteries in dress explained recently in a lecture on clothes as a human nature study.

The three marks on the back of the glove correspond to the fourchette pieces between the fingers, and in the old days, said the lecturer, these pieces were continued along the back of the hand, braid being used to hide the seams.

A somewhat similar origin was assigned to the ornamental "clocks" on the stockings. In the days when stockings were made of cloth the seams came where the "clocks" do now, the ornamentation then being used to hide the seams.

The useless little bow in the leather band lining a man's hat is a survival of the time when a hat was made by taking a piece of leather, boring a series of holes in it, running a lace through and drawing it up.

The helmet of a freeman is of the same type as that of the Greeks and has hardly been altered at all.

The same lecturer provided a solution to a problem that has puzzled women for generations—how to evolve a new dress when she has spent her dress allowance. "Buy 8 cents' worth of butter muslin, borrow a couple of brooches and make a Greek tunic."

HER MAJESTY QUEEN VICTORIA OF SPAIN

Sorrow Comes to Queen While King is in London

MADRID, May 21.—Queen Victoria was delivered of an infant stillborn at 4 o'clock this morning. The sex was male. The unhappy outcome is attributed to a premature accouchement, which, however, was otherwise natural. The body will be buried without ceremony in the royal pantheon of the Escorial monastery.

When told of her loss the mother wept bitterly. King Alfonso is still in London, where he attended yesterday the funeral of the queen's uncle, the late King Edward.

The present is the first instance of a still birth in the Spanish royal family. Queen Victoria is the mother of two boys and a girl, all surviving. She has openly acknowledged that it is her ambition to have a large family.

Douglas Robinson May be Candidate

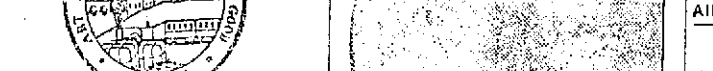

UTICA, N. Y., May 21.—There is considerable talk among Herkimer county politicians as to the advisability of nominating Douglas Robinson for the congressional district of which Robinson has a legal residence at Warren, Herkimer county. The boom for him is understood to have originated in this city, where, it is said, republicans are seeking a candidate who will hold the congressional district in which Vice-President Sherman lives, the assumption being that Millington, the present republican incumbent, is not a sufficiently strong vote-getter.

SAVED 200 LIVES

Policeman Seized Bomb With a Lighted Fuse

NEW YORK, May 21.—Policeman Edward Mahoney risked his life today by seizing a bomb with a lighted fuse and dipping it into a puddle of water in the street. His act saved 200 men from possible death or injury. When Salvatore Maculoso, a barber who works in a shop on the first floor of a Bowery lodging house, went to the place to open it this morning he saw the bomb. He knew that Tony Geroli, owner of the barber shop, had

EXCITING TIME

Was Experienced by an Undertaker

SUSSEX, N. B., May 21.—Although events happening in this town are not generally productive of much excitement and though undertakers are usually looked upon as individuals into whose lives but little of violence and turmoil entered, F. Wallace, funeral director and undertaker in the adjoining village of Plummesee, yesterday was converted to a very different view.

An automobile was at the bottom of the trouble. Mr. Wallace was bound for a funeral and was driving the empty hearse. As an act of courtesy he stopped at the house of the Rev. Mr. Clark, the officiating clergyman, and offered him a horse ride to the house of sorrow. Mr. Clark accepted the invitation and the two men were seated on the box of the hearse when an automobile swung around a turn in the road. The horses shied and the hearse was thrown off. Mr. Wallace was thrown off, but when he landed he fell on the glass window on the side of the overturned hearse, carried away the glass and was deposited snugly within the vehicle of death.

Neither clergyman nor undertaker was seriously injured. Mr. Wallace telephoned for another hearse and when that arrived he started for the funeral again. After the services while the procession was on the way to the cemetery the horses shied again, although there was no automobile in sight this time. Again was the hearse

Water Department Wants New Land on Boulevard

There will come a time when more driven wells will be needed to supply the demand for water in Lowell and in order to be in readiness for that time the water department has in mind the acquisition of land on the boulevard. The land is situated on the back side of the boulevard and comprises five or six acres. Engineers have gone over the land in question and have found good water veins there. The property, if acquired, would admit of at least 200 new wells.

Rufus M. Whitte, assistant engineer of the state board of health, came to Lowell this afternoon and went over the land in question with Supt. Thomas of the water department. His trip to Lowell was in response to a letter sent by Mr. Thomas.

A law that is not many years old says that a city wishing to condemn land for the purpose of protecting its water supply must have the approval

SENATOR ROOT

Refuses to Discuss Political Situation

NEW YORK, May 21.—"Cut that out; I am not going to talk politics," declared Senator Root to the newsmen who asked him today on his departure to The Hague if he thought the republican party was as strong today as it was a year ago. Accompanying Senator Root on the steamer Lapland were lawyers from all over the United States to represent the country at the arbitration of the northeastern fisheries dispute with England, including Samuel J. Elder of Boston.

Senator Root said he was not certain whether or not he would meet Colonel Roosevelt in Europe but he hoped he would have the opportunity.

IMMENSE ARENA

To be Built for the Big Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Safely over the troubles caused by the enforced change of scene of the big fight for Emoryville to San Francisco, affairs are moving along smoothly once more.

Definitely reassured by the district attorney who says the law reads no apparent obstacle against the staging of the great contest in this city, promoters Rickard and Gleason are busy themselves today with the multitudinous details which arrangements for the combat require.

The fight will take place in an arena to be built especially for the purpose at Eighth and Market streets close to the heart of San Francisco. A year's lease of the property has been secured and the building to be erected will be constructed along the identical lines proposed for the Emoryville structure. Thus no change in the seating of spectators will be entailed.

It is estimated that a million feet of lumber will be used in the construction of the gigantic structure. The arena is 525 by 325 feet and Rickard says that if necessary a seating capacity of 35,000 can be provided.

Because of the dissatisfaction engendered by the Papke-Thomas fight Thursday night, Chief of Police Martin has announced that hereafter he will personally supervise all rights held in this city.

Jack Johnson has not done much work since Wednesday afternoon. He was on the road as usual yesterday and played a little baseball late in the afternoon but otherwise he did not exert himself. He has six weeks still ahead of him and he figures that it is not necessary for him to exert himself. He has plans calling for boxing bouts Sunday afternoon.

"BROTHER JACK"

SURPRISED AT THE SPEED OF JEFFRIES

BEN LOMOND, Cal., May 21.—"Brother Jack" professed great surprise at the speed shown by Jim Jeffries in yesterday's boxing bout. The three whirlwind set-tes in which the retired champion participated left him strong and eager for more, and as Jack watched Jim whipping up his exercise with a pulling and hauling match with Farmer Burns he remarked:

"Jim is a whole lot stronger and harder than ever before. I sparred with him continually in his former training seasons, but I don't believe he ever was such a terror with the gloves as he is right now. Jim rushes me right off my feet."

Jeff told his sparring partners that he intends to give them plenty of ring work next week. "After that," he went on, "Jim Corbett will be here and you will get a rest, for I'm to do most of my boxing with Jim. If he is as good for three rounds as he used to be, he'll give me an awful good rub."

CHIMNEY FIRE

An alarm from box 28 about 2.30 o'clock this afternoon summoned a portion of the fire department to a blaze in the Marin block in Allen street. The fire was caused by a defective chimney, but before the blaze was extinguished considerable of the sheathing was burned away.

The Church Organ

THE STREET DEPT.

Will Next Turn Its Attention to Middlesex Street

When the street department has finished with Prescott street it will turn its attention to Middlesex st. The paving of this street with granite paving blocks will be continued from the railroad crossing to Nichols street. The road crossing to Nichols street. The said, "It would mean a difference in grade in Merrimack street. Of course, it is not necessary that the work of extending Dummer street should be gone through with before Merrimack street is paved, but if it is ascertained for a certainty that the work is going to be done we can make our grades in Merrimack street accordingly."

Another job provided for in the appropriations for the year includes Merrimack street from the railroad crossing in Dutton street to Tilden street. This job is subject to delay on account of the proposed Dummer street extension and not only the committee on streets, but the city council as a whole seems to favor the extension providing that the property owners do not name too big a price.

On Tuesday afternoon of next week a special committee will meet property owners to discuss the question of land and business damages. On this committee are Aldermen Gray, Councilmen Genest and Brady. These men have been appointed by the street committee as a sub-committee to obtain information bearing on the proposed extension and to report back to the committee. The estimated cost of the extension is about $60,000.

Asked today as to the paving of Merrimack street, Supt. Putnam said that he would like to hear something definite relative to the extension of Dummer street before starting the paving job in Merrimack street.

The lawn and flower beds in front of city hall and the grounds surrounding the memorial building are being sadly neglected. The flower beds at the city hall are a sorry sight and the lawn mover has not yet made its appearance. This is up to the park commission.

AN APPEAL FILED

In the Glover Will Case at Cambridge Today

CAMBRIDGE, May 21.—At the office of the clerk of courts of Middlesex county here today there was filed an appeal in the Glover will case from the decision of Judge Charles J. McIntyre, who, following a long and bitterly fought attempt to have the will broken, held that the will had been properly made.

The decree of Judge McIntyre giving the local portion of the estate to the widow and to another brother, Seymour S. Glover, was made on April 23 last following a long contest by four of the dead man's brothers to annul the instrument.

Clarence F. Glover was murdered on November 29, 1909, and Hattie Leblanc, a young French Canadian girl who had been living with the Glover family, was indicted on the charge of having committed the crime. The brothers sought to prove in the will contest that

Mrs. Glover exercised undue influence over her husband.

Counsel for the brothers, William F. Norman S. Albert R. and Arthur B. Glover, alleged that the instrument was not duly executed; that Glover was not of sound mind when he drew up the will; that it was made through fraud and undue influence by Lillian M. Glover, who they deny was his wife; that he did not intend that it should take effect as his last will, that part of the instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover is null and void for that the said Lillian M. Glover, wilfully, maliciously and feloniously caused the death of the said Clarence F. Glover for the purpose of obtaining the estate given her under said trust, and finally that Lillian M. Glover wilfully, maliciously and feloniously caused the death of Clarence F. Glover.

Mortgagee's Sale

Saturday, May 28th, 1910, 2 P. M.
OF A TWO-STORY, TWO-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 3328 SQ. FEET OF LAND, SITUATED AT NO. 11 MIDDLESEX PARK ST.

I will sell by order of the mortgagee this two-story, two-tenement house, situated within one minute's walk of the Middlesex street electric car line, also five minutes of the John C. Meyer Co., silk manufacturers. The house has six large and airy rooms, very well lighted, to each tenement, besides pantry and hall, toilet, sewer connections, gas and city water. The building is in perfect condition, both inside and out, only recently considerable money was expended in putting the property into its present perfect shape. The tenants are rented for $10 a month, each making a total of $20 per year. There are 3328 square feet of land with a frontage of 40 feet on the street, thus giving plenty of yard room. This makes a grand chance for anyone to purchase a home in a first class neighborhood wherein he can live in one tenement and rent the other and the revenue received will defray all the running expenses of both. If you are looking for a chance to buy a home and investment combined where it will require but a small amount to pay down, do not miss this sale.

Terms: $200 to be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off; other terms at the sale.

6 O'CLOCK FOUND NOT GUILTY Man Was Arrested on a Charge of Larceny

Thomas O'Riley, a resident of the Draught Navy Yard, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of $85 from George Garner last June. The case was a long drawn out affair and after the testimony on both sides had been offered the court found O'Riley not guilty and ordered him discharged.

According to the testimony offered O'Riley and Garner and a third party, met in a grove near the Parker avenue bridge and the former greeted Mr. Garner with the remark, "Have you got anything on the hip?" Garner said that he had nothing but had 55 cents in his pocket and would give 50 cents of it if some one would go and buy a pint of whiskey. O'Riley volunteered to do the errand and came back with the bottle. O'Riley said that the whiskey was good, but Garner was not sure what the contents of the bottle was for it put him to sleep.

He claims that before he went to sleep he had $55 in the watch pocket of his trousers, but that after he awoke it was missing and O'Riley and the other man were also missing. During the cross examination of the complainant he said that a few days after the alleged larceny he went to the police station with Officer Judson T. Crawford and swore out a warrant for another man whom he claimed stole the money and did not make out the warrant against O'Riley until last week.

Mr. O'Riley when placed on the stand said that he was the carrier of the whiskey which had been paid for by Mr. Garner, but that Garner after getting drunk became so obstreperous that he and the other man who was with him decided to leave him, which they did.

Thas much as O'Riley was out of work at the time, he went to several cities and did not return to the Navy Yard until a few weeks ago when for the first time he learned that there was a warrant out for his arrest. Several witnesses testified as to the honesty of the defendant and the court after considering the testimony found Mr. O'Riley not guilty and ordered his discharge.

Lawyer O'Sullivan appeared for the government and Lawyer Murphy for the defense.

Placed on Probation
Benedicto De Giorgio was charged with stealing $11.60 from his father, Damiano De Giorgio. It is alleged that the boy was left in charge of the store while the father went out on an errand and that the former worked the combination on the safe and, despite the fact that there was nearly $200 in the safe, he took but $11.60.

The young man has appeared in court before for being a stubborn child but at the time that he was in on that complaint the court decided that there was something wrong with the home, and during the course of the trial of the case this morning the testimony which was offered was of such nature that there was a doubt in the mind of the court, and the young man was placed in the hands of the probation officer.

There was an amusing incident in connection with the trial which caused some laughter in the court room. Charles De Giorgio, a brother of the defendant, was one of the important witnesses and, owing to his tender years, Judge Hadley asked him if he knew the meaning of an oath and then asked him as to the meaning of a lie. "Do you know what a lie is?" asked the court.

The answer was in the affirmative. "Do you know what happens to people who lie?" was the second question. "Yes," was the prompt response, "they go to hell."

Was Fined $25
Alexander Norakawicz, who was tried yesterday on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Charles Bue, was this morning given a chance to make a settlement with the complainant, but the defendant refused to come to terms and was ordered to pay a fine of $25.

Drunken Offenders
William H. Campbell and John McCabe, charged with being drunk, were sentenced to the state farm. Thomas F. McKee was fined $5 and three first offenders escaped with fines of $2 each.

FOUR NEW CARS

For the Boston and Northern Roads

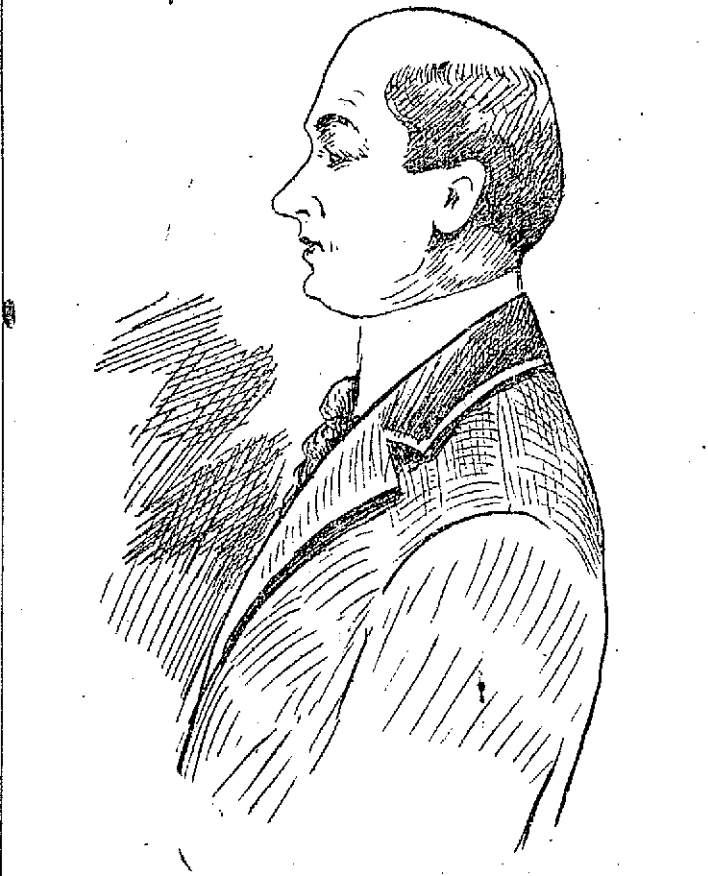

The local division of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company has added four new, 14-seat open cars of the latest pattern to its rolling stock. Three of the cars have arrived in Lowell already and the fourth car will come here within a day or two.

The cars are 45 feet over all, with straight back seats, large openings between the seats and are the most up-to-date cars that have ever been turned out by the Taconic Car Co.

There is a seat for the motorman which can be used on the long runs and the substance of the car is oblongated owing to the fact that there are water spouts on each end of the cars which carry the water to the street.

U. S. OFFICIAL HERE

To Hear Views of Citizens in Regard to This Important Project

LIEUT. COL. EDWIN BURR.
(Sketch by Sun Artist.)

Meeting at the Board of Trade Rooms at Which Col. Burr States His Mission and Asks for Information on the Subject—Address From Board of Trade and Prominent Citizens

A rousing meeting for the purpose of impressing upon the United States government the great benefit to be derived by the cities of the Merrimack valley by deepening the Merrimack river so as to make it navigable from Haverhill northward was held at the board of trade rooms this morning with Lieut. Col. Edwin Burr of the United States Engineer corps, as the guest of the occasion. Although the meeting was suddenly called with little opportunity for advertising it, there was a large representation present and what they lacked in numbers was made up for in enthusiasm and it was evident that Col. Burr was impressed by what he heard.

Col. Burr has charge of the engineering department for this district in the matter of waterways, and under an act of congress has been making an investigation of the possibility of making the Merrimack river navigable to Lowell at least. He is soon to report back to congress, but before doing so desired to hear what the commercial interests of the Merrimack valley had to say in relation to the matter and hence he notified the associations of Lowell and Lawrence that he would be here today to hear them. He requested that while he would hear all who cared to address him on the matter, as many as possible furnish him with information in writing. As a result, in addition to the several speakers referred to below, a statement prepared by the board was read to him and given him for further consideration, while editorials from The Sun, the Courier-Citizen and the Lowell Herald were presented along with letters favoring the proposition from the following concerns: O'Sullivan Bros., Gilmore Manufacturing Co., James J. Kelly of the O'Donnell Dry Goods company; H. R. Barker Co., the Gillette Co., Heinz Electric Co., J. L. Chaffoux, James J. McManmon and others. Col. Burr arrived on the 9 o'clock train from Boston and was met at the depot by a committee of the board of trade, headed by Acting President James O'Sullivan and Fred G. Garrett, chairman of the committee on transportation, under the auspices of which the meeting was held.

He was taken at once to the board of trade rooms where the meeting was held. Among those present were Mayor Meahan, Senator Hubbard, ex-Senator Putnam, James O'Sullivan, who presided; Fred G. Garrett, City Engineer; Bowers; William Cogger, acting secretary of the board; Charles L. Callahan; George B. Coburn, J. L. Chaffoux, Paul Chaffoux, Edward B. Pelree, Charles H. Conant, Moses Marks, Secretary C. H. Littlefield of the Lawrence board of trade and M. J. Sullivan, president of the Lawrence Merchants' association.

The Meeting Opened
On the arrival of the Lawrence visitors James O'Sullivan, acting president of the board of trade, called to order and after expressing the pleasure of the board at meeting a representative of the U. S. government he expressed the hope that the meeting would result in the deepening of the Merrimack river, making it navigable to Hunt's falls. "It seems like an abuse of Nature's gifts to Lowell to see the Merrimack river flowing idly to the sea. In Europe and other countries that stream would be utilized."

Mr. O'Sullivan then introduced Col. Burr.

Col. Burr Speaks

Col. Edwin Burr received most cordially and he spoke in part as follows: "This work of deepening rivers, as you know, comes to the corps of engineers of the war department. This particular district has its headquarters in Boston. In this connection this matter of a survey has been assigned to my office for a report. In reporting it is necessary to get in touch with the parties interested and find what they wish to accomplish and receive from them all possible information as to what benefits will result from such improvements. It's entirely a question of dollars and cents. The government receives no direct benefit from its expenditure. The government examines closely to see if the money it spends on these improvements will be compensated with the benefits to be received. To determine this we must have the co-operation of the commercial interests affected. At present you have no navigation at all. The case is one of furnishing to the government the fullest information as to what benefit will be derived by the commercial interests of Lowell and Lawrence if the river is made navigable from Haverhill to Lowell."

The Board's Statement
President O'Sullivan then called upon Secretary Cogger to read a statement prepared by the board at the request of Col. Burr. The statement was as follows: "To Col. Edwin Burr, U. S. Survey. Dear Sir: The citizens of Lowell believe that the Merrimack river should be made navigable for vessels sufficiently large to admit of such ocean going as would be required for a passage from Newburyport to Boston for the following reasons: "Its manufactures require the use of raw materials, such as cotton, in large quantities, and if these could be brought from the south and west in barges directly to this city the expense of transportation would be far less. Conversely, the products of the factories are very varied, including about everything from heavy machinery to phonograph needles, and are so widely distributed by the shippers that an opportunity to load them in barges or vessels for direct delivery to many points would make a great saving and enable the manufacturers to compete with other cities more fortunately located in the matter of transportation costs. Something over 500,000 tons of coal are now brought into Lowell over the railroad. The transportation cost per ton is now 85 cents, which by means of direct water transportation would be far less, to say nothing of the saving in labor and time used in loading and unloading at a seaport terminal. A rough estimate places the actual saving as over $100,000 a year on this item. Lowell factories produce no small amount of goods or machinery which

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Capt. Richard T. Mulligan has been relieved from the bureau of navigation of the navy department, and is preparing to go to Boston in a few days to assume his new duties, the command of the monster battleship North Dakota. It will be his first important sea command in several years.

Capt. Mulligan was born in New York, and was appointed to the naval academy from New Jersey in 1871, graduating in 1876. For the next two years he was attached to the Powhatan, and in 1880 reached the grade of ensign. From 1881 to 1883 he was stationed at the New York navy yard, and from 1883 to 1886 was on the Tennessee, reaching the rank of lieutenant, junior grade, in the latter year.

Several details to the bureau of navigation have served to give him an unusually long tour of departmental duty. He was attached to the bureau from 1891 to 1896. In August, 1897, he returned to the bureau, where he remained until placed in command of the North Dakota. At first, he was detail officer of the bureau. Recently he had been assistant to the bureau.

During the Spanish war he was on the New York, Admiral Sampson's flagship, and took part in the portion of the battle of Santiago, in which that vessel participated. He served a detail at the Boston Navy Yard after the war.

Capt. Mulligan is regarded in Washington as a capable officer, but there is said to have been some opposition to his assignment to the command of the North Dakota. Other aspirants reasoned that it should go to an officer who had served more at sea. He has undoubtedly done much efficient work in the navigation bureau, and his services there helped him to obtain such a desirable ship as the North Dakota.

CITY SOLICITOR

Decides Question Raised by the Water Board

In an opinion prepared by request of Secretary Crawford of the water board, City Solicitor Duncan opines that articles purchased for the water supply for the city and so far as practicable only after public advertisement. He should purchase such articles as meet in every reasonable detail the requirements of the department for which they are intended, taking into consideration at all times the price to be paid, and should buy only at the lowest figure obtainable, consistent with the best interests of the city.

After a contract has been made and approved by the mayor, it is clear that, in the absence of fraud or collusion, such contract is binding on the city and any bills incurred thereunder should be paid.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that when the goods or articles bought for the water department are reasonably suitable for the purpose intended, the city therefor should be approved, even though the board itself believes the prices charged are excessive.

Respectfully submitted,
Wm. W. Duncan,
City Solicitor.

HON. BUTLER AMES

Reads Letters He Sent to Hon. Sereno Payne

WASHINGTON, May 21.—In the house yesterday Hon. Butler Ames read the letters that passed between himself and Rep. Sereno Payne, the republican "wink."

The sundry civil bill was under consideration. No one was particularly interested and members were making political speeches. In general debate on an appropriation bill a member may talk on any subject under the sun, as he seldom talks about the bill itself.

Mr. Ames asked Mr. Tawney, the chairman of the appropriations committee, to give him time, and Mr. Tawney did so, not imagining that Mr. Ames was about to provide the house with a sensation.

At first Mr. Ames' remarks attracted little notice, but soon the house sat up and after he had got well into his subject he was interrupted by Rep. Olmstead of Pennsylvania, who made a point of order and declared that Mr. Ames should not be allowed to proceed as he was making a personal attack upon a fellow member.

The chairman overruled the point of order, and Mr. Ames was permitted to conclude without further interruption.

Wants to Be Understood
In opening his remarks, Mr. Ames said:

"I desire to submit the following communication from myself to the chairman of the committee on ways and means and one from him to me in connection with the attempt to get that committee to hold a hearing on, and if possible to report house resolution No. 564, providing for the freer and better trade relations with Canada."

"I do this so that the members of the house in particular and the public generally may fully understand and appreciate the attitude of the committee on ways and means as represented by its chairman."

Mr. Ames then read the correspondence. Ames' Letter to Payne
The first letter, dated May 10 and addressed to Mr. Payne, was as follows:

"Dear Sir: I have the honor to request a hearing by your committee on house resolution 564, a copy of which I send enclosed. Enclosed is a petition, signed by 77 republican members of the house of representatives, requesting that your committee favorably report the above mentioned resolution."

"I have not seen all the republican members, and a number that I have seen, while favoring the resolution, preferred not to sign the petition, but chose to speak to members of the committee on ways and means in its favor. Very respectfully,
"Butler Ames."

Petition Means Little to Payne
In reply, Mr. Payne, six days later, wrote:

"My Dear Sir—Yours of the 10th inst. was duly received. I cannot see how the fact that 77 men have signed your petition changes at all the situation in regard to your resolution."

"It does not change the attitude of the members of the committee with whom I have conferred, nor does my conversation with some of the signers of your petition strengthen your position. Yours very truly,
"Sereno F. Payne."

"Not Good Political Sense."

This letter Mr. Ames answered yesterday as follows, his reply being addressed to Mr. Payne:

"In answer to your letter from the committee on ways and means of the 17th inst., I would call your attention to the fact that on three separate days I approached your august person and asked verbally and politely for a hearing by your committee on house resolution No. 564, which was introduced in the house March 31, 1910, and which reads as follows:

Resolved, That it is the sense and judgment of this house, that as soon as the articles purchased for the water supply for the city and so far as practicable only after public advertisement. He should purchase such articles as meet in every reasonable detail the requirements of the department for which they are intended, taking into consideration at all times the price to be paid, and should buy only at the lowest figure obtainable, consistent with the best interests of the city."

After a contract has been made and approved by the mayor, it is clear that, in the absence of fraud or collusion, such contract is binding on the city and any bills incurred thereunder should be paid.

lution be transmitted to the president of the United States."

"To my first request you arrogantly insisted (if I remember correctly) that 'as far as you could find out no one wanted the resolution and that it was not good political sense.'"

Discourtesy Inexcusable
"Believing that your lack of courtesy was inexcusable and that you were unable to understand or appreciate that many republican members of the house not only wanted the resolution passed, but who, not yet having lost all touch with the present desires of the party and the country generally, did believe the resolution to be good political sense."

"I went to the unusual labor of circulating, in person, a petition which I inclosed with my written and last request for a hearing."

"This petition was signed by 77 republican members of the house. It certified not only to the 'adviseability' of the adoption of the resolution, but also requested your committee to favorably report the same."

"To this written evidence of the error of your assumed position you give no consideration."

"My last request for a hearing was made in letter form at the suggestion of a member of your committee."

Taft Drawn Into the Affair
"Is it properly to be assumed that you did not intend, in the beginning, to consider or act upon this resolution?"

"The president wrote you a letter, dictated in my presence and in that of a third party, indicating his approval of the resolution, though not specifically asking action therefor, lest his request might embarrass the house or lest the house might embarrass him by refusing its endorsement. It was and is his intention to proceed with such negotiations with the house as acts upon the resolution or not."

"The president's letter was written as the result of a second interview in an endeavor to convince you that he favored the resolution."

"You stated on two occasions that the president did not want the resolution, and when I suggested that there must be some misunderstanding you graciously illuminated the situation by telling me 'that the president knew more what he wanted than did I.'"

Involves Taft's Sincerity
"I twice suggested going over with you the letter you had received and which I had heard dictated."

"On one of these occasions you informed me that 'Your relations with the president were such that when he wrote you he was after he did not want the resolution.'"

"If that be true, then Representative Fish and myself were both deceived and I assure you that it is not even to be assumed that either intentionally or unintentionally the president would be lacking in sincerity or straightforwardness."

"I am surprised that the written request of more than one-third of the republican membership, including every one of the Massachusetts republican delegation, should not be sufficient to secure a hearing by your committee. I am loath to believe that the committee on ways and means is either hidebound in their own opinions or indifferent to the desire of a large number of the republicans in congress."

Payne's Conduct Insulting
"The fact remains, however, that I have used every aid and due diligence and courtesy to secure such treatment and gentlemanly consideration as any member of the house should and does expect of other members."

"Your statement that 'your conversation with some of the signers of my petition does not strengthen my position' is at once ungentlemanly and insulting."

"It implies either that I misrepresented the case in circulating the petition among the members signing the same or that I had made it a matter of personal appeal and that the signature of a man to relieve them of my importunities."

Methods Bred Insurgency
"I resent any such imputation. Your whole attitude has so lacked in common courtesy and a proper sense of proportion that I feel forced to make this written protest thereto."

"Your letter, if freely translated, should be interpreted to read—'the desires of many republican members and the public be damned.'"

"It is just such hidebound intolerance of the desires and rights of others as is found in a man who advocates, against their better judgment, a committee of committees in the house, in order to purge itself of such individual misrule and abuse of power."

"It is just such domination and disregard of the public desire and rights of others as is found in a man who advocates, against their better judgment, a committee of committees in the house, in order to purge itself of such individual misrule and abuse of power."

LAKEVIEW WATER LARGELY OF $1000

The water of Lake Muscupple is impure and not fit for drinking purposes, according to a report issued from the office of the state board of health after samples of the water had been submitted and analyzed.

The board recommends the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. to discontinue drawing water through a pipe line and that if the water is used at all upon the grounds that it shall be in such a way as not to come into the supply used for drinking and cooking, which supply is taken from tubular wells.

The following is the communication from the board of health:

Office of the State Board of Health, State House.

Doston, May 19, 1910.

To the Boston & Northern Street Railway Company, Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen: Complaint having been made to this board of the unsatisfactory sanitary conditions at the resort known as Lakeview on Tyng's pond in the town of Dracut, which the board is informed, is controlled by your corporation, the board has caused an inspection of the locality to be made by one of its engineers with special reference to the condition of the water supply and means provided for the disposal of sewage.

From this examination it appears that the water supply at this resort is taken from the pond a short distance from shore, near one of the main buildings, and in part from a system of tubular wells in a swamp in the eastern part of the grounds. The board is informed that the lake water is pumped into a tank, having a capacity of about 5000 gallons, each morning and is subsequently used for various purposes, including sprinkling, the drives and walks, washing floors, etc. Water is then pumped from the group of tubular wells in the swamp in the rear of the theatre into the same tank.

Analyses of the water show that that which is drawn from the wells while affected by an excess of iron, is probably safe for drinking, but the water which is drawn from the pond is very badly polluted. There is no doubt that with the present arrangement, by which water is drawn a part of the time from the pond and at other times from the wells and distributed through the same tank and pipes, the drinking water supplied to the park is polluted to greater or less extent and unsafe for drinking.

The board recommends that the drawing of water from the pond and its distribution through the same pipe system as the water supplied for drinking and cooking, be discontinued at once. If the pond water is used at all in the buildings or upon the grounds it should be supplied in such a way that there will be no danger that it may be used for drinking or cooking.

The well water, while affected, as already stated, by an excess of iron, is probably not seriously polluted at the present time, but it is probable that with continued use the quantity of iron in this water will increase so that it will become very objectionable for drinking and other purposes.

It is probable that a view can be so located at some point in this region that an ample supply of good water can be obtained for the requirements of the park, which will not be polluted by an excess of iron. The board recommends that tests be made to determine the quality of water in such a supply and that such a supply be provided as soon as possible to replace the water of the wells which contains an excess of iron.

It also appears that the provision for sanitary and similar conveniences at this park is entirely inadequate for the purpose, and that a serious nuisance is created there at times in the summer season. The board recommends that adequate and suitable sanitary facilities be provided, and that at the same time provision be made for the disposal of the sewage in such a way that it will not create a nuisance or pollute the waters of the pond.

The board is informed that the resort known as Mountain Rock on the northwestern side of the pond is also under the control of your company. This resort is not apparently near to a very considerable extent, but it does not appear that any provision has been

BOSTON, May 21.—In police circles and in the shoe trade considerable interest is being taken in the affairs of Hezekiah C. Welch, who is set down in the Malden city directory as being a resident of 78 Elm street in that city. The Boston police have a warrant for his arrest on a charge of larceny of about $1000.

A week ago yesterday the West Lynn shoe manufacturing company, with a factory at Hampton, N. H., was petitioned into bankruptcy. Welch, although his name did not appear as an officer of the company, is said to have been practically the only man in it.

Welch has been missing from his usual haunts for several days, and the furniture and other things which he had in his salesrooms and office at 747 Boylston street have recently been sold out under a judgment secured by one of his creditors.

A warrant was sworn out at the instance of Charles W. Worcester, a notary and money lender of 15 School street, who alleges larceny by means of false pretenses. Mr. Worcester's lawyer is Clarence F. Eldredge. Yesterday Mr. Eldredge said that on Dec. 8, 1909, Welch went to Mr. Worcester and said he wanted to borrow $1000 on his own note, and for the purpose of securing the loan, Mr. Eldredge said, Welch had owned a first mortgage for $10,000 on the plant of the West Lynn shoe company at Hampton, that he had $2200 worth of shoes in his salesrooms on Boylston street, that he had $5000 worth of personal property and that his office furniture alone was worth $700.

Mr. Eldredge said that the loan was made. Later on Mr. Worcester found reason for uneasiness at having invested in the note. One of the things that was found out, Mr. Eldredge said, was that instead of owning the $10,000 first mortgage on the manufacturing plant at Hampton, Welch had pledged the loan with the Federal trust company of Boston for practically its face value. Mr. Worcester brought suit and got a judgment, on which he sent an officer to levy on the $2200 worth of shoes and the office furniture at 747 Boylston street. Mr. Eldredge said that instead of finding $2200 worth of shoes there the sheriff discovered only about $20 worth. He levied on them and on the office furniture.

At the sale the sheriff realized on the office fittings something like $200.

Some years ago Welch lived in Haverhill and was known there as a good fellow personally and as a successful shoe salesman. He was at that time and still is a member of the Pentucket club, a leading social organization, and he has been a frequent visitor there since he removed his family, consisting of a wife and three children, to Malden.

Last Saturday night, the night of the day on which Welch's shoe manufacturing company was petitioned into bankruptcy, a letter addressed to the Pentucket club was received there by Welch. The letter purported to have been written in Malden and in it Welch said he wished his fellow clubmen to understand that there was no truth in the charges being made against him nor in the gossip concerning his financial condition.

The Boston police tried to find Welch in Malden, but were unsuccessful. It was said he went to Baltimore, but he can't be located in that city.

Welch is about 40 years old, is a member of several clubs, it is said, and has been a liberal spender. He has been well known in certain of the high priced hotels in Boston.

made for a supply of drinking water except by taking water from the lake. This lake water is exposed to pollution by the sewage from this resort, and if this resort is not kept during the coming year a supply of good water for drinking should be provided.

By Order of the Board.

Office of the State Board of Health, State House, Boston, May 19, 1910.

To the Board of Health of the Town of Dracut.

Gentlemen: An examination of the resort known as Lakeview, near the easterly end of Tyng's pond, shows that the water supply is taken directly from the lake, and that the sewage from the resort is discharged in such a way that it finds its way into the lake within a short distance of the intake.

In the opinion of the board, it is essential for the adequate protection of the health of those resorting to this place that a supply of good drinking water be provided from some suitable source. The lake is not a safe source from which to take water for drinking. Provision should also be made for the proper disposal of the sewage so that it will not create a nuisance or pollute the water of the lake.

By Order of the Board.

Office of State Board of Health, State House, Boston, May 19, 1910.

To the Board of Health of the Town of Dracut.

Gentlemen: An examination of the summer resort known as Willowdale, on the southeasterly shore of Tyng's pond in Tyngsboro, shows that the water supply for this resort is taken directly from the lake, the water of which is polluted at several points by sewage. In the opinion of the board, it is essential for the protection of those using this resort that a supply of good drinking water be provided and the use of water from the lake discontinued.

Provision should also be made for the disposal of the sewage from this resort in such a way that it will not create a nuisance or pollute the water of the lake.

The board has also examined the sanitary conditions affecting the group of cottages located near the southerly end of the lake and finds that the water supply at some of them is badly polluted and unsafe for drinking. The water of the wells in this densely populated locality is exposed to pollution from the numerous vaults and cesspools which are necessarily located at no great distance and it is necessary for the protection of the health of those living in this locality that a supply of good drinking water be provided. It is probable that a good supply of water can be obtained from the ground at some point in this region which would furnish all the water required for these cottages and for the resort known as Willowdale, at a reasonable expense.

By Order of the Board.

THE U. S. TRADE

WITH PANAMA WILL EXCEED $22,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Trade between the United States and the Republic of Panama will exceed $22,000,000 in the fiscal year which ends next month, and for the seven years since the Republic of Panama came into existence will approximate $100,000,000. About nine-tenths of this total, speaking in round terms, is merchandise exported from the United States to Panama and about one-tenth merchandise imported into the country from that Republic. Even these figures do not show the grand total of merchandise sent from the United States to Panama during this period, since such portion of the supplies for the Panama canal and those engaged in its construction as were sent from time to time upon government vessels were not included in the figures reaching the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, by which this statement of trade with Panama is reported. Just what proportion of the merchandise sent to Panama has been for use in the construction of the canal cannot be definitely determined, though the British minister at Panama recently estimated that about one-fifth of the total imports of the republic were for the commissaries of the canal zone, approximately two-fifths for canal supplies and the remaining two-fifths for general use.

The trade with Panama has steadily grown and the figures of both imports and exports for the fiscal year 1910 will exceed those of any earlier year. In 1909, the earliest fiscal year for which figures of statistics are presented by the bureau of statistics, imports from Panama were valued at $440,747. By 1906 they had grown to $1,065,887, and in 1909 were $1,676,994. Meantime exports to the republic show an even more rapid growth, having advanced from $979,724 in 1904 to $2,460,289 in 1909 and $3,679,590 in 1910. In the nine months ending with March, 1910, imports were $1,595,048, against $1,338,483 in the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year, and exports $2,393,555 against $2,555,007, indicating that for the complete fiscal year which will end June 30 next the imports from the isthmian republic will exceed 2 million and the exports there to 20 million dollars.

Bananas, vegetable ivory, India rubber and cattle hides comprise the principal articles imported from Panama. In the nine months ending with March, the latest period for which detailed statistics are available, the imports of bananas aggregated 2,506,000 bunches, valued at $804,631; India rubber, 232,638 pounds valued at $214,976; vegetable ivory, 4,689,545 pounds valued at $147,261 and hides of cattle, 617,642 pounds valued at $87,561.

Iron and steel, manufactures, meat and dairy products, cereals, lumber, coal, cotton manufactures, explosives, cement, boots and shoes, and cars, carriages, etc., constitute by far the larger part of the merchandise exported to Panama; while soap, malt liquors, sugar, illuminating oil, scientific instruments, India rubber manufactures, fruits and nuts, eggs, copper manufactures, chemicals, and lubricating oil are also exported in considerable quantities.

With few exceptions, all of the articles named show increased exports in the present year. Those of iron and steel, for the nine months ending with March of the year named, increased from $3,893,601 in 1909 to $5,022,322 in 1910; the principal growth occurring in structural iron and steel, pumps and pumping machinery, iron sheets and plates, and wire; while steel rails, builders' hardware, and locomotives decreased. Meat and dairy products also showed increased exports, from $251,676 to $502,968; and boots and shoes, from $317,466 to $176,352, the comparisons in each case being between the figures for the nine months ending with March, 1909, and those for the corresponding months of the current year.

To the Board of Health of the Town of Dracut.

Gentlemen: An examination of the resort known as Lakeview, near the easterly end of Tyng's pond, shows that the water supply is taken directly from the lake, and that the sewage from the resort is discharged in such a way that it finds its way into the lake within a short distance of the intake.

In the opinion of the board, it is essential for the adequate protection of the health of those resorting to this place that a supply of good drinking water be provided from some suitable source. The lake is not a safe source from which to take water for drinking. Provision should also be made for the proper disposal of the sewage so that it will not create a nuisance or pollute the water of the lake.

By Order of the Board.

Office of State Board of Health, State House, Boston, May 19, 1910.

To the Board of Health of the Town of Dracut.

Gentlemen: An examination of the summer resort known as Willowdale, on the southeasterly shore of Tyng's pond in Tyngsboro, shows that the water supply for this resort is taken directly from the lake, the water of which is polluted at several points by sewage. In the opinion of the board, it is essential for the protection of those using this resort that a supply of good drinking water be provided and the use of water from the lake discontinued.

Provision should also be made for the disposal of the sewage from this resort in such a way that it will not create a nuisance or pollute the water of the lake.

The board has also examined the sanitary conditions affecting the group of cottages located near the southerly end of the lake and finds that the water supply at some of them is badly polluted and unsafe for drinking. The water of the wells in this densely populated locality is exposed to pollution from the numerous vaults and cesspools which are necessarily located at no great distance and it is necessary for the protection of the health of those living in this locality that a supply of good drinking water be provided. It is probable that a good supply of water can be obtained from the ground at some point in this region which would furnish all the water required for these cottages and for the resort known as Willowdale, at a reasonable expense.

By Order of the Board.

THE U. S. TRADE

WITH PANAMA WILL EXCEED $22,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Trade between the United States and the Republic of Panama will exceed $22,000,000 in the fiscal year which ends next month, and for the seven years since the Republic of Panama came into existence will approximate $100,000,000. About nine-tenths of this total, speaking in round terms, is merchandise exported from the United States to Panama and about one-tenth merchandise imported into the country from that Republic. Even these figures and other boilers is that they heat the houses they are rated to heat;—you don't have to get the "next larger size."

These Boilers give more heat per pound of coal than others and cost less in repairs. They are simplicity itself in operation, are guaranteed for zero weather efficiency and to save fuel, labor, worry and money to those who use them.

There are no packed joints, sheet iron parts or brick linings in these Boilers, and the "Heat Ribs" cast on the interiors are found in no others.

They are a gilt edge investment for those who want heat and plenty of it at the minimum of expense and care.

CONTEMPT OF COURT

BOSTON, May 21.—Judge Bond in the second session of the superior court yesterday heard contempt proceedings against Alvan T. Fuller, proprietor of an automobile repair factory in Brighton, resulting, it is alleged, from the discharge of Adolph F. C. Maertins, an employee, last Saturday because of the latter's service for six weeks on the jury.

From the evidence it appeared that Mr. Fuller had no personal knowledge of the matter, but that Maertins was discharged by Alfred P. Wellburn, assistant superintendent. The latter said he let Maertins go because his work was unsatisfactory. He came from Des Moines, Iowa, to take charge of the factory. There are 250 men under him.

Some time in February Maertins went to work at the factory. Later he was summoned to serve on the jury in the second session of the superior court. Wellburn asked him to see if he could get excused, as he knew such a thing was done frequently in Detroit. While on the jury Maertins worked every Saturday and at such time as he was not actually sitting on a jury.

He was discharged Saturday at the suggestion of Joseph H. Grady, foreman of the department in which he worked. Mr. Wellburn admitted that in the middle of April, while Maertins was on the jury, a new man was hired to do his work, and he said the work was better done by the latter.

Grady corroborated the testimony of Wellburn as to the cause of the discharge of Maertins. He denied that the jury service had anything to do with the discharge. James E. Hennessey, blacksmith at the factory for 15 years, said Maertins' work was not satisfactory. John Seneo, who took Maertins' place, said he obtained the job through an advertisement.

Maertins testified that when he showed Wellburn his jury summons he said: "Fuller hires men to work here, not to do jury duty." On Saturday last he said Grady came to him and said he was sorry to say that Maertins' place was taken by Seneo. Wellburn says you are through. Seneo related his experience in his line of work and said the only instance where fault was found with his work was in regard to a spring which was not finished when attention was called to it. He never had any difficulty with anyone at Fuller's and told the jury that he was satisfied if he had not done jury duty he would not have been discharged.

The court will hear further evidence next week.

Judge Vail in the superior criminal court yesterday denied the motions of counsel for George I. Crocker and others for leave to examine evidence and exhibits presented to the grand

DISTRICT ATTORNEY

JEFFRIES-JOHNSON BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The attitude of the law officers of San Francisco to the Jeffries-Johnson fight was definitely settled yesterday by District Attorney Fickert, who said there was no legal ground for interference.

"If the contestants comply with the provisions of the code and the ordinance," he said, "it is not within my power, the power of the police department, or of the sheriff to prohibit the fight. I have read the articles of agreement between Jeffries and Johnson and they are in all respects within the statutes."

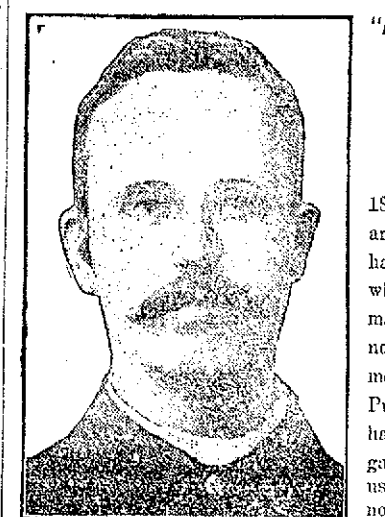

"It is impossible for me to predetermine whether there will be a violation of the statutes. If, during the fight, the principals or their representatives violate the law, they will be punished. As has been stated by the courts, both in this country and in England, it is a question for a jury to determine whether such a contest is a sparring match or a prize fight."

"If a majority of the people of the state of California are against professional sparring exhibitions, the remedy lies with the legislature."

TORPEDO BOAT TEST

The Flusser Had the Standardization Trial Today

ROCKLAND, Me., May 21.—The torpedo boat destroyer Flusser went onto the Rockland course early today to repeat her standardization trial of Tuesday when she attained a maximum speed at the rate of 33.52 knots an hour and developed a maximum horsepower of 15,992.

Cloudy skies, a fresh northeast breeze and choppy sea were the conditions under which the little craft was making her run.

With the completion of her trial the scene shifts to the Provincetown course where the battleship Michigan and the destroyers Flusser and Reid will be the contestants in the standardization trials. They say given a series of tests similar to those which have been made on the Rockland course the present week, all of which are for the purpose of determining whether a greater depth of water facilitates the movements of the warships. Of the three Atlantic coast courses Rockland takes an easy lead, being 325 feet while the maximum depth is 190 feet or 2-3 fathoms. At Provincetown the ships will steam over a measured mile that ranges in depth from 150 to 160 feet while at Delaware breakwater the maximum depth is but 150 feet and the minimum 135 feet for Charlestown navy yard.

Although standardization trials in foreign countries are said to have demonstrated that shallow water causes a drag to ships of deep draft and consequently retards their speed, naval authorities in this country are differing in their opinions as to whether the surplus depth of the Rockland course is really beneficial.

The protected condition of the Rockland course has been realized and has commended itself to the trial boards, both in the exhaustive tests of the past four days and in all of the destroyers' acceptance trials. They say that standardization trials can be held there when it would be almost impossible at Provincetown or Delaware breakwater. The effect is found in the increased cost to all the builders, save water facilitates the movements of the warships. Of the three Atlantic coast courses Rockland takes an easy lead, being 325 feet while the maximum depth is 190 feet or 2-3 fathoms. At Provincetown the ships will steam over a measured mile that ranges in depth from 150 to 160 feet while at Delaware breakwater the maximum depth is but 150 feet and the minimum 135 feet for Charlestown navy yard.

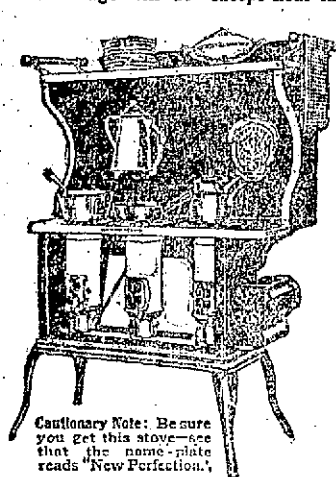

It is semi-officially stated that this course will not be entirely abandoned even if it fails to show the superior merits that it is supposed to possess. The standardization trials will continue to send all ships here for trial.

AN UP-TO-DATE STOVE

Do you realize there is no longer any reason why you should use a coal range? Oil is cheaper than coal; it is lighter and easier to handle, and gives an intense heat. Provided you have the right stove, oil is more economical, cleaner and less trouble. Have you seen the

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

The accompanying illustration gives you only a rough idea of its appearance. You really can't appreciate it until you either use it yourself, or talk to someone who has used it. It does everything that a coal range will do—except heat the room. The New Perfection Oil Cook-stove will do anything, from heating a kettle of water to cooking a course dinner, but it won't heat a room. It doesn't "smell," it doesn't smoke. It can't get out of order. Light it and it is ready. Turn it down and it is out. Only a woman who knows the trouble of carrying coal and cooking in a hot kitchen can appreciate what it means to have a clean, perfect stove that will cook anything, boil, bake or roast, and yet won't heat the kitchen. How is it done? The flame is controlled in turquoise-blue enamel chimneys, and directed against the bottom of pot, pan, kettle or oven, and only there. The flame operates exactly where it is needed—and nowhere else. With this stove your kitchen is cool.

The nickel finish with the bright blue of the chimneys makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

TWO NEW RECORDS

Were Made by the Balloon Cleveland Today

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., May 21.—Two new records were established today when the balloon Cleveland which ascended from North Adams last night came down here at 6.28 this morning after the longest flight ever made by a balloon from New England and the first time that a balloon from New England has landed in Canada. The balloon traveled a distance of more than 200 miles in an air line, was in the air 11 hours, 52 minutes and reached an altitude of 11,000 feet. With A. Leo Stevens as pilot and carrying Prof. David A. Todd of Amherst college, Charles Somerville, a New York newspaperman and H. P. Sherman of London, a Williams college student, the balloon ascended from North Adams last night at 6.43. The principal object of the balloon voyage was to secure data on Halley's comet but on account of the haze and the bright moon, the aeronauts were unable to make an observation.

This voyage makes the balloon a claimant for two cups, one offered by a newspaper of Montreal for the New England balloon landing nearest to that city and the other by President Cortland Field Bishop of the Aero Club of America for the New England balloon making the longest flight. The previous long flight record was made by William Van Fleet who covered a distance of 155 miles last summer from North Adams to a town in Maine.

KING ALFONSO

Is Hurrying to the Bedside of the Queen

LONDON, May 21.—Most of the members of royalty, special envoys and deputations who came to attend the funeral of King Edward have left or are leaving today for their homes. King Alfonso of Spain is hurrying his departure as a consequence of disappointing news from Madrid of Queen Victoria's premature accouchement. Emperor William will remain two days at Buckingham palace.

This morning Queen Mother Alexandra received in farewell audience in the throne room of Buckingham palace the deputations to the funeral, the officers of the German and other visiting regiments and foreign civic bodies, thanking them for their presence on yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied American Ambassador Reid and Mrs. Reid to West park today for the week-end.

THE SONDER RACES
BOSTON, May 21.—Believing that the sailing conditions in Buzzards bay more nearly approximate those at Kiel, Germany, the Eastern Yacht club announced that the trial races for the selection of the American sonder team to represent this country in the German races in June, 1911, will be held there beginning Sept. 2. The races will continue the following week until the committee has agreed upon the three best boats.

Sonder yacht racing will have the call in eastern waters for more than a month this summer with the trials for the Spanish races on Aug. 8th, and the international contests with the yachtsmen from that country the week beginning Aug. 17th.

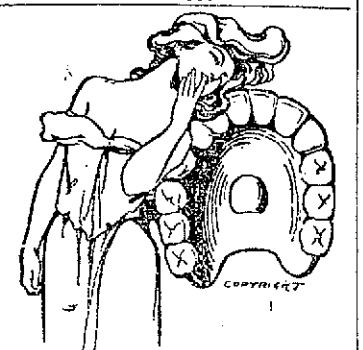

These latter races are expected to close during the following week, giving a week's rest before the German trials. The principal handicap of the American boats in 1908 was the fact that all three were selected under the conditions which prevailed of Marblehead, where there is a long steep roll, so that when the Yankee yachts started against the Germans they found that they could make very little progress in the short choppy sea. In Buzzards bay the water is shoal and the wind is strong which brings about very nearly the same conditions as those in Germany except that the water at Kiel is less dense than that at Buzzards bay. It is expected that there will be more than twenty aspirants for German honors at Buzzards bay this fall. The American team will be sent to Germany in May, 1911.

CLOUDS BLOCK VIEW OF COMET
CAMBRIDGE, May 21.—Banks of heavy clouds blocked the attempts of the astronomers at Harvard observatory to obtain a view of Halley's comet or its appendage today. The professors believe that had the weather been clear they would have seen the tail in the eastern sky as many astronomers have received from other astronomical observation stations lead them to think that the phenomenon which they witnessed yesterday morning was the comet's tail. The latest message received came today from Tacubaya, Mexico, received last night which read:

"Comet's tail visible today in the eastern sky."

BALLOON CLEVELAND
PITTSFIELD, May 21.—The three New York men who failed to go up in the balloon Cleveland from North Adams last night as planned came here today and made an ascension in the balloon Pittsfield in the heart of the Berkshires. William F. Whitehouse piloted the aerial craft and Philip Carroll and Arthur Warner comprised the passenger list. The balloon started at 11.30 a. m. and sailed in a southeasterly direction.

GLADSTONE CLUB

Boxing in the open was the treat afforded the members of the Gladstone club at Washington park last evening the club having engaged the park for permanent quarters. One of the objections raised against the club by the authorities was they had no permanent home. Now they have them with dressing rooms, shower baths and plenty of room for all kinds of athletics. The ring was pitched directly in front of the grand stand and was brilliantly lighted. Kid Wright of Boston and Kid Boyle of Lowell came here to fight. The fight was a late one, and the referee and they went along nicely until the fifth when Boyle was awarded the decision on a foul. The management announced that Jimmie Moriarty and Tom Sawyer of Portland will appear at the next meeting which will be held next Thursday evening.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

A very pretty and select dancing party was held in the town hall, North Chelmsford, last night by the Vincent Girls' club. The hall was very tastefully decorated with wild flowers and the stage was completely banked with lilacs. In the left corner of the hall was situated the matrons' corner, where the matrons were kept busy all evening receiving the guests. At eight o'clock a concert program was started to the music of Thyer's orchestra of Peppercorn, and at 8.30 the strains of the first waltz were started and dancing continued until eleven o'clock when an intermission was taken during which ice cream and cake were served in the lower hall. After intermission dancing was continued until 12 o'clock when a late car returned to Lowell with the immense throng which was present from the city. The matrons of the evening were: Mrs. Frank Mallory, Mrs. Patrick Ward, Mrs. William J. Quigley and Mrs. Arthur Malligan. The party was in charge of the Misses Jennie Mallory and Lillian Martel.

MORIARTY WON

But the Bout Was Slow and Uninteresting

About 50 Lowell sports went to Manchester last evening to see the 15 round bout between Jimmie Moriarty of this city and Frank Perron of Pawtucket, R. I., and most of them were sorry they went, for while Moriarty received the decision he didn't show his usual form and the bout was slow and uninteresting.

Both men did more sparring than fighting, and no decisive blows were struck during the 45 minutes of fighting time. Time and again the referee was obliged to urge them to get closer, as neither seemed to care to engage in any hard work.

The first few rounds were fairly even, neither man having the slightest advantage. Neither Moriarty nor Perron was marked up at all, and until the eighth round each appeared as fresh as when he entered the ring.

The eighth round was all Moriarty's, and for the first time blood was drawn, Perron's lip and nose commencing to bleed. The audience was far from satisfied with the work, and constant hissing was the result.

As the bout drew to a close, the men warmed up to the work a little more, and had they started in as they ended, the bout would have been interesting.

The final round was all Moriarty's, and Perron was in much the worse condition at the close. Although Moriarty had the better of the actual fight, it was felt that he had not worked his hardest, and consequently the decision of the referee was not received entirely with pleasure by the fighting fans present.

The preliminaries were not much more interesting than the final. Both were short and snappy. The semi-final was a contest between Moriarty and Jack Murphy of South Boston and Kid O'Brien of Lawrence. As the men entered the ring it was easily seen that Murphy was in much the better condition, and had more weight than his opponent. O'Brien was no match for the heavier man, and was repeatedly floored in the first round. He came back well in the second round, and for a time it looked as though a good bout might develop. Training showed, however, and the superior weight told on O'Brien. He was sent to the floor once in the third round, and in the fourth was so pitifully weak that the referee stopped the bout, awarding the decision to Murphy.

The preliminary, between Young Lewis of Concord and Young Pleasant of Manchester, was also a short affair. In the first round Pleasant lost his nerve, repeatedly, and was sent to the mat for counts of six and seven. He had the good sense to retire after this round, as his seconds saw that he was outclassed.

HALL IN PRISON

Bank Wrecker Starts a Fifteen-Year Sentence

BOSTON, May 21.—John A. Hall, sentenced to the state prison for from 12 to 16 years for stealing funds from the Southbridge savings bank, was brought by officers to Charlestown yesterday to begin his penalty as a convict. His first day will be in solitary confinement.

Deputy Sheriff W. A. Putnam, with Hall in custody, arrived at the Huntington avenue station on the express from Worcester due at 3 o'clock. Accompanying them was Hall's devoted wife, who accompanied him to the prison, and his attorney, George A. Gaskill.

The party was met at the station by Mrs. Hall's brother, Robert Martin of Jamaica Plain, who had a taxicab waiting to convey the party to the prison.

The party arrived at the prison at 3.40, where they were met by Deputy Warden Nathan D. Allen and Clerk Darling. A record was made of Hall's age, weight, height and physical appearance for the prison record.

Mrs. Hall kissed her husband when he bade him good-by, and Mr. Martin shook hands with the prisoner in parting. Deputy Allen provided Hall with a prison suit and saw that he was given a bath. He was then placed in solitary confinement in a cell in Fort Russell.

Tomorrow afternoon Deputy Allen will talk with Hall and determine what sort of work he is capable of performing in the prison shops.

Hall is the 85th prisoner now serving sentences at the state prison.

Hall carries to prison with him a secret that many people of Worcester county would like to have answered more satisfactorily than he answered it Thursday afternoon in Worcester court when he made an attempt to tell what he did with the money he stole from the bank. While Hall admitted that his recalcitrant attitude had reached $370,000, the Southbridge savings bank would like to know what has become of the difference between that sum and the deficit of $602,000 which the examination of the bank's affairs disclosed.

A big portion of this difference may be accounted for in a loss in interest, but it is generally believed in Worcester county that there is a big bunch of money somewhere that has not been accounted for at all.

Hall's evident attempt to have the court believe that he gave a goodly portion of his stealings in charitable and philanthropic institutions has been denied by the heads of the institutions in Southbridge and Worcester that he said he contributed to.

Hall told the court he gave $50,000 to the Southbridge Y. M. C. A. to help pay for its building, but E. Walter Packard, secretary of the association, made a statement yesterday that he is unable to find on the association's books any record of such a gift from Hall, or anything like it.

"I don't believe that Hall ever gave the association $50,000," said Mr. Packard. "If he did it would certainly show up on the books somewhere. The present Y. M. C. A. building cost $105,000, and it is now mortgaged for $45,000. The money paid in was raised mostly by George C. Monroe of Springfield, Hall's predecessor in the bank, and I have been told there was some mixup over this fund while it was in Hall's hands, and there was a suspicion that the entire fund did not leave Hall's hands. His accounts as treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. are terribly messed up. It is impossible to get any idea of things from them."

Records Brand It False

"Hall became treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. when he entered the bank, and I don't think any one will ever know whether the association lost or benefited by his services as treasurer. I have never seen any statement that he gave the association $50,000. He told me once that it cost him $200 or $300 a year to be treasurer of the Y. M. C. A., and at that rate he would not have put in much over $3000."

Hall also told the court that he contributed to the Y. M. C. A. in Worcester, implying that his subscriptions were of generous proportions. Mayor James Logan of Worcester, who had charge of a campaign recently to raise funds for the Worcester association, told a reporter that the most he knew that Hall ever gave the association was $50. This came in the form of a voluntary contribution when the mayor was raising the funds and as far as can be learned, that was all he ever gave.

With regard to Hall's statement that he had contributed some of the stolen funds to Memorial hospital in Worcester, Alexander DeWitt, treasurer of that corporation, went through his books yesterday, but he could find no record of any amount contributed by Hall in the list of donors. There is one item in the books which shows that several Southbridge people had raised a fund for the hospital, but the total amount of this fund was only $300.

It was also decided by a majority vote of the board to notify Mr. Dolan not to interfere with any property of the town used in the suppression of gypsy and brown tail moths after May 21, 1910, and the following letter was sent him:

The commencement exercises, class 1910, Lowell Textile school, will be held on Friday afternoon, June 3, at 2.30 o'clock. The exercises will be held in the assembly hall and the school will be open for inspection after the exercises.

Someone has asked relative to the diploma of the Lowell Textile school. The answer is found in the school bulletin. The diploma of the school is awarded upon the satisfactory completion of any of the regular courses, covering not less than three years, except where entrance is to advanced standing. In such cases at least one year's attendance is required.

The National Cotton Manufacturers association offers annually a medal to that member of the graduating class from the cotton manufacturing course, selected because of his standing and general ability, as best fitted to receive it.

The daily work of the student forms an important part of his record, and no student will be awarded the diploma unless this portion of his record is satisfactory.

In cases of either day or evening students, irregular attendance, lack of punctuality, neglect of either school or home work, disorderly or ungentlemanly conduct or general insubordination, are considered good and sufficient reasons for the immediate suspension of a student, and a report to the trustees for such action as they deem necessary to take.

ABOUT AUTOTIRES

A very interesting illustrated lecture on tires was given before the members of the Lowell Automobile club last night at its headquarters on the top floor of the Richardson hotel. The lecturer started his talk by describing the manner in which the sap is taken from the trees and following along went into the details of tire making.

The illustrations consisted of several excellent reels of Edison motion pictures, taken, for the most part at the plant of the Goodrich Rubber company, in Akron, Ohio. The earlier pictures showed the Brazilian Indians at work getting the rubber sap from trees in the forests. Later the process of solidifying and purifying the rubber was shown. The most illuminating portion of the lecture concerned the almost numberless processes used in the making of the tire. The building up of the inner tubes and the testing of them by means of water pressure was a revelation. F. M. Tillisch, direct from the Akron plant, who is making a tour of the country, was the lecturer. Accompanying him was Howard B. Lirim, Boston manager for the company. Mr. Tillisch, in the course of his lecture, spoke of the course here and in Tyngsboro, and said it was one of the best he had ever ridden over. The evening closed with a series of motion pictures of the races held at Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 9 to 18, of last year. John O. Heinze, president of the Lowell club, presided during the evening.

HALLEY'S COMET

Presented Appearance of Fan Tailed Pigeon

CARNEGIE OBSERVATORY, Mount Wilson, Cal., May 21.—To scientists at Carnegie observatory Halley's comet presented the appearance of a fan tailed pigeon last night. The comet's appendage was spread out at an angle through several degrees. Despite the bright moonlight, the tail appeared distinct. The comet set an hour and fifty minutes after the sun. Director Hale said that last night's observations show that the comet has passed far beyond the earth and taken its tail with it.

CREW IS SAVED

Seven Men at Pumps for 24 Hours

VINEYARD HAVEN, May 21.—A losing combat of 24 hours with the invading waters, unbroken except to take snatches of food, was ended last evening for the crew of the little schooner Sarah & Lucy, which had sprung a leak last night off Cape Cod, when she was grounded in this harbor, after being towed in by the revenue cutter Acushnet.

The Sarah & Lucy was bound from Boston to New York with a cargo of copper miners, having left the former port on May 13.

It was wireless telegraphy that worked out the salvation of the Sarah & Lucy and her crew of seven men. The little vessel communicated her plight to the Pollock Rip lightship yesterday morning, and that beacon promptly notified the revenue cutter Acushnet, at Woods Hole. The Acushnet arrived alongside at 3 p. m. yesterday, when there were 3½ feet of water in the Sarah & Lucy's hold.

For several hours the men, fatigued by their long vigil, had felt the swish of the waters mount higher on their legs as they stood at the pumps, working for their lives. Their labors continued even after the Acushnet took their vessel in tow, but were at an end when the Sarah & Lucy was headed into the mud in the harbor here.

A steam pump probably will be set at work to clear the vessel, after which she will be temporarily repaired and later towed to her destination.

A Welcome to Teddy

THE JUNGLE PARASOL.

NOW that the indefatigable Teddy is coming home again we have the jungle parasol to greet him with. As its name indicates, the handles show the heads of different African animals and birds he hunted. The fame of a man is indeed great when he inspires even articles of feminine fancy.

Exercise and Figure Culture

TO be the possessor of a pretty face does not fall to the lot of every woman, but the attainment of a graceful figure is within the reach of all. Even a pretty face loses much of its charm if its owner is handicapped by a badly put up figure. On the other hand, a girl whose face has no pretensions to beauty claims her fair meed of praise if her figure is graceful and pleasing to the eye, and to attain this strict attention to diet and a few simple rules for hygienic living are all that is necessary. First and foremost comes the question of exercise. Women may be classed, generally speaking, as those who overexercise and those who do not take enough exercise. For example, a young and energetic woman will indulge in games that demand too great muscular strain, with the result that she becomes overfatigued and no benefit comes of the exercise. Moderation should be the keynote of exercise if it is to be health giving.

This is an age of athleticism. Girls of all ages crave for sports, and no girls' school is considered well equipped without its gymnasium. All this is fine, provided the rapidly developed muscles are not overtaxed. For women who are no longer in their girlhood the best exercise is walking. Even a delicate woman will profit from walking if she indulges in it with moderation. Exercise should never be taken fasting or too soon after a meal. The minimum time devoted to outdoor exercise is one hour daily, but it is better to spend several hours in the open air. Nothing is more depressing to most women than the fact that they are growing fat, yet the remedy lies in their own hands. Follies such as vinegar drinking, etc., have been relegated to obscurity. They merely checked the formation of flesh by injuring the digestive organs. Careful dining is, however, necessary, but not to the point of semistarvation. Fatty and starchy foods, sugar and beverages such as cocoa, chocolate, etc., must be avoided. Few women overeat at mealtime, but they are guilty of great indiscretion in the matter of diet between meals. More care in these matters, combined with regular exercise, will soon reduce overstout figures to medium size.

RECIPE OF OLD HOUSEKEEPER.

An old housekeeper utilizes the inexpensive part of a shoulder of lamb in a tasty stew. She buys a whole fore-quarter and cuts off chops enough from it for another meal. Then she rubs the remaining portion of the meat with a damp cloth and then with salt and pepper, puts it into a roasting pan and bakes it for half an hour. At the end of that time she turns a cupful of boiling water into the pan and bakes and bastes until the meat is tender. About a quarter of an hour before it is to be served she sprinkles the roast with a couple of onions that have been minced very fine and continues to bake and baste as before. When the meat is done she removes it to a hot platter, drains the fat from the liquor in the pan and thickens the gravy with cornstarch to a cream consistency. She often serves with the roast potatoes, boiled whole, with cream sauce over them, string beans and tomato salad.

The Servant Who Breaks and Wastes

MOST housekeepers, I think, must have come across that demon of destruction at least once, if not more, during the course of their housekeeping lives. Have we not sighed hopelessly at seeing our treasures smashed one after the other by those rough hands that are incapable of holding any article without dropping it?

To such an individual lacking the artistic sense the value of a piece of china is generally judged by the price paid for it in cash. Once I had a little glass which was bought at a trifling cost on the top of the Broken, in the Harz mountains. On it was written, "Gruss aus dem Brocken." I had had it for years on my mantelpiece, and every time I looked at it I remembered what a pleasant excursion I had at that time with some German friends.

One morning that pink glass with the "greeting from the Brocken" lay in a dozen pieces on the floor, dropped by hands that took it up ostensibly to dust it. I felt a pang of regret and indignation as I looked at the disappearance of another one of my treasured souvenirs and heard the stereotyped phrase, "I am so sorry, miss, but I didn't mean to break it." Perhaps not, but it wouldn't have been broken had the destructive servant paid more attention to her work and less to her reflection in the mirror over the mantelpiece.

If you ask a servant how she managed to crack a meat dish or break off the handle of the vegetable dish the reply is invariably "I am sure I don't know how it happened, ma'am, for I didn't do it." But I can tell that servant how it happened. She either knocked it against the spigot or banged it on the kitchen table. What matters it to a servant whether she breaks, chips or cracks your crockery since she is only serving you for a time and the articles she destroys are not hers? And the only redress or possible cure for this breakage is to require the maid to replace the article when it is at all within her means to do so.

In regard to waste, some of the favorite items that disappear quickly are matches and soap. Have you ever watched a servant strike a match? To begin with, she scrapes at the box instead of striking it, and it is done so impatiently that at least five matches are thrown away, generally on the floor, before the sixth gets alight.

I have seen washing and cleaning soaps left in pails or basins where they soon dwindled to nothing. I once asked a servant who wasted her mistress' soap whether she would continue that system of leaving it in the water when she started her own housekeeping on a few dollars a week. "Oh, no!" replied that ingenious creature. "I shouldn't be able to afford it then."

And so it goes all down the list of household necessities. In consequence they last only half as long as they ought to. DAPHNE DEAN.

The New Gloves

THERE are two decided innovations in gloves this season. For the glove to be worn with long sleeves there are white and black lace gloves with heavy embroidery of the same on the backs. They are exceedingly smart for street wear, but that will not prevent many women from adhering to the less striking all white or all black gloves.

For wear with short sleeved costumes long suede gloves in fairly light tones of tan and gray are worn. In making a selection of suede gloves it should be remembered that it is only the best quality that will give satisfaction and that even so they are not as economical as glace kid because they do not clean so well.

THE CHANTICLEER DOLL. Should you see a small maiden fondling a queer looking toy which is neither a Teddy bear nor a doll, but a combination of both, do not be surprised. She probably has a doting aunt or mamma, who has given her one of the newest toys, that's all.

For now the chanticleer has pushed his way into the toy kingdom—"strutted in" might be a more appropriate term. The chanticleer this new toy is called. The body is of the soft woolly stuff which has been used for Teddy bears. The body and legs are of this stuff, while the arms, or wings, are of red and green felt and are shaped like a rooster's wings.

There is a little bisque face, but the head is of felt in bright red, shaped like a comb.

BREAKFAST JACKET. For a breakfast jacket have Japanese silk and cut it hip length, with point at the front and straight across at the back. Loose pointed sleeves should be bound with ribbons and a simple neck binding used. Morning jackets are simple and usually made of fine silks.

TIMBALES OF SPINACH. Pick over two quarts of spinach, wash thoroughly (changing the water many times), add salt and let it boil for ten minutes. Boiling water may be added when the spinach is set to cook, or it may be cooked in the water that clings to it by turning the spinach frequently. Drain in a colander, pressing out all the water. Chop very fine. Add half teaspoonful of salt, half teaspoonful of sugar, half teaspoonful of white pepper, one-fourth teaspoonful of grated nutmeg and the yolks of three eggs. Set over the fire and stir constantly while the mixture heats a little. Turn into buttered tumbler molds (a tiny round of paper should be set in the bottom of the mold before it is buttered), set the molds in a pan of boiling water and let cook ten minutes. Serve with rich brown sauce to which three tablespoonfuls of sherry and a tablespoonful of liquid from a mushroom have been added.

ROOT CELERY. Not every one knows there is a variety of celery which makes a large root like a turnip and that serves as an excellent salad vegetable. The seed is sown and the plants are planted exactly the same as the better known varieties, but when the roots have grown large enough they are dug up as wanted. The tops are trimmed off, and the bulbs are then scraped and boiled until tender. They are then sliced and half a weak vinegar, to be served with cream or French dressing the same as potato salad. The flavor is mild and delicious.

INVALID PUDDING. Roll three tablespoonfuls of sultana raisins in two cupfuls of milk, then add two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch dissolved in a little cold milk, two well beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, half a teaspoonful of sugar and grated rind of one lemon, mixed well together. Pour into a buttered dish and bake in the oven until set.

HOT CHERRY PUDDING. It will soon be cherry time, and the following recipe will be found useful: The weight of two eggs in butter, sugar and flour, half a teaspoonful of baking powder, one dessertspoonful of cherry brandy. Beat the butter to a cream; add the sugar and eggs and beat five

ALL hail to the bathing girl of 1910! Here she is in all the glory of her new toggery. How do you like it? Ostend, the fashionable continental watering place, approves of it immensely.

Of course this costume would be scorned by Annette Kellerman and by women generally who go in for swimming as a fine art, but the average summer girl will say "it's wonderful."

What is the material? Don't say "not practical" when you find out that it's white washable pongee. But any material madame elects to use can be carried out in this model.

As you see, the Russian influence is at work on bathing suits this season. This garment is in two pieces, with the skirt and waist joined at the waist line with a belt of the pongee.

Bands of the palest pink silk—indeed, flesh tint conveys the notion of the nuance better—trim the garment, and white washable ribbon laces the skirt at the side in a very novel fashion. The short sleeves are laced in the same way. Knickers of the pongee are carefully fitted and worn under the short skirt.

Have you observed the dainty garter with its fetching bow? And what could be more chic than the turban of wash chiffon cloth with which milady has swathed her pretty head?

Black silk stockings and black sandals, held on the feet with ribbons, complete this smartest of smart bathing suits.

The up to date bathing girl this season will carry a parasol to prevent her neck from becoming sunburned, for it is no longer thought smart to have the neck brown and burned looking. The most sensible aquatic sunshades are of raffia.

The shape is the modish pagoda model, and the coloring harmonizes with the suit.

A Good Deodorizer

WITH the approach of hot weather a number of women suffer from excessive bodily moisture. If not carefully guarded against this is fatal to all personal attractiveness.

The woman who perspires must not stint on laundry bills. She should never wear underclothes that are not above suspicion as far as odor is concerned.

Frequent bathing is a necessity. Washes a bath each morning the head should be freely used at other times.

A little ammonia or borax in warm water is excellent in case of excessive moisture. Dusting with talcum powder or orris root after the bath will be found helpful.

Shields should be changed frequently, and there are many kinds of odorless shields that are very good, although they are a trifle more expensive than the other varieties. Most shields can be washed, but they are seldom any good afterward.

There is less temptation to wear shields long if they are pinned in with small safety pins than when they are securely sewed to the waist.

A good powder is made of one part salicylic acid to three of boracic acid, the whole mixture scented with orris root.

Dust perspiring hands with boric acid before putting on gloves and bathe the hands often with cologne or alcohol. Ventilated gloves are a great help.

THE WOMAN WHO MOTORS. "Don't rig yourself up in a lot of especially designed apparel for the lady motorist," is the advice of an expert woman motorist.

"I never wear anything more than an ordinary skirt, shirt waist and hat in warm weather or perhaps a duster, cap and goggles on tour. Add the necessary coat and wraps in winter and you have all the special costuming a woman needs."

One of the greatest compliments, this same woman remarked, came from a friend who told her that she sat in a car so easily when driving that she looked as though she had grown in the automobile. This same motorist said, "If I kept a car for nothing else it would be worth while to have it so that I could join in taking the orphans from the asylum on their annual outing trip."

What a good world it would be if

more people felt that way about some of the luxuries that they enjoy! A good thing is just twice as good when shared.

THE ART OF FLAVORING. Frequently in making some familiar dish a good cook will discover some clever little variation in the way of flavoring or new ingredients that adds to the appearance and taste of the dish.

Thus one clever woman in preparing salads composed of celery and nuts or celery, nuts and apples discovered that if the nuts were first passed through the meat chopper and reduced to the consistency of coarse meal the flavor was much improved.

She shreds the celery rather fine and arranges the minced nuts into a little mold on each portion, finishing with a spoonful of thick mayonnaise.

Housekeepers who are on the alert for novelties now vary the croquettes served with soup by making them of rye bread instead of from the wheaten loaf. The crusts are trimmed away from a thick slice of the bread, the surface of which is then rubbed over so lightly with clove or garlic cut in half. After being cut into the conventional squares or triangles they are transferred to a baking dish and browned delicately in a quick oven.

When something out of the ordinary run is desired for a home luncheon try creamed hazelnuts. Shell the nuts, blanch and boil until soft, then cover with cream sauce flavored delicately with sherry. This dainty can be served in ramekins or in paper cases.

Serve pineapple ice cream or water ice in "surprise" style for the next guest luncheon. This is done by cutting the top carefully away, including the green spray itself, and scooping out the pulp with a spoon. Fill with water ice or frozen pineapple made from the pulp, replace the top and bring to table the pineapple flaunting its green top as before.

Two Examples of the Simple Type of Dress That Will Be Worn

THE simple frock is certainly being worked over time this season, and much is done in the name of simplicity that would not be recognized except by name. For example, the frocks seen in the illustration are a type of simplicity, as it is known in fashionland, but note the elaborate simplicity of the chiffon overdress, with its hand run tucks and the embroidered skirt and bodice trimming. Are they just one's ideas of the simple style?

Things Worth Knowing

AFTER each meal there should be a thorough airing of the lower floor. No matter how perfect the system of ventilation it is impossible to prevent cookery odors. This airing is doubly necessary should there be smokers in the family.

Frequently one uses only half a cabbage. To keep the remainder fresh wrap it in some of the loose leaves and then in damp paper. Put it in a cool place, and it will keep fresh and crisp for many days.

If the lamp wick moves up and down with difficulty a simple remedy is to pull out a few threads at either side of the wick.

Mothers often wonder why their children's stockings wear out so much quicker than their own, and doubtless the reason is that little folks' footgear is subjected to far more heroic treatment by the average laundress. True, the feet of children's stockings often demand this, but how would last much longer if they were allowed to soak for fifteen minutes before being rubbed on the board. The sand that has sifted through the shoes would then fall to the bottom and not be left in the stockings to saw holes as the cotton is rubbed up and down on the scrubbing board.

The knobs often come off the lids of pans and kettles. Should this happen

a screw may be inserted in the hole, with the head to the inside of the lid, and a cork screwed on the protruding end. This will make a knob that will not get hot and may be renewed when soiled.

DRESS LENGTHS.

The home dressmaker is frequently puzzled about the correct length of skirts. Two inches above the ground all round is the proper length of the tailored skirt of 1910.

The skirts of linen suits are nearly always made ankle length. This prevents them from soiling quickly around the bottom, and the short skirt in wash goods is always natty looking.

Separate skirts for outing wear are also ankle length. Tweeds, serges, linens and heavy cotton and brilliantine are the materials most used for these skirts.

For the double skirt—that is, two skirts of equal depth made from flouncing in fabrics of one kind—the lengths may be the same all round. And for house wear the round length is preferred. The skirt may escape the ground if for outdoor wear.

When skirts are made with the fashionable tunic drape that runs into a point at the back a train effect is required.

The skirt model that has a deep hem of a contrasting material is extremely trying to any but a tall woman. Such a model is made both long and short.

Evening and dinner frocks are all made with trains, but dancing frocks for young girls and young matrons are most popular in short lengths.

EMBROIDERY NOTES.

Of all flowers used in embroidery the wild carrot, or Queen Anne's lace, is the most exquisitely dainty.

Curran's make an effective bit of color on white linen and are not difficult to embroider.

A bridge score pad with a linen cover prettily embroidered in a conventional rose design is a useful Christmas gift.

TRICOT CLOTH CORSETS.

The desire of women for comfortable corsets, even though they are long, has brought about the use of tricot cloth in their making. This is a little stronger than the elastic webbing, which was not firm enough to maintain the figure in its proper lines. This new cloth is easy over the body, not pressing it down as could does. If one's hips cannot stand the pressure of bones, gusset of the webbing is inserted.

HER MAJESTY QUEEN VICTORIA OF SPAIN

MADRID, May 21.—Queen Victoria was delivered of an infant stillborn at 4 o'clock this morning. The sex was male. The unhappy outcome is attributed to a premature accouchement, which, however, was otherwise natural. The body will be buried under ceremony in the royal pantheon of the Escorial monastery.

When told of her loss the mother wept bitterly. King Alfonso is still in London, where he attended yesterday the funeral of the queen's uncle, the late King Edward.

The present is the first instance of a still birth in the Spanish royal family.

Queen Victoria is the mother of two boys and a girl, all surviving. She has openly acknowledged that it is her ambition to have a large family.

Dr. Temple's Treatment Free to the Sick

Anyone applying for treatment at the office, 97 Central street, Manser block, rooms 10, 11, 12, will be treated one week free, without charge or compensation whatever for medicine, office treatment or advice. No money will be asked or accepted under any circumstances. This is absolutely and positively free to all sufferers with any form of a nervous or chronic disease of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, blood or rectum. The offer is limited in time only. You must come this week.

THE FREE TREATMENT PLAN is not a philanthropic or charity offer, but simply a business proposition, made for the purpose of becoming quickly acquainted with the sick, to introduce the new and progressive method of treatment and to prove this wonderful system of healing; therefore, all may call—the high, the low, the rich, the poor, without fear or favor. The doctor believes that the grateful acknowledgments of the many who will be relieved and cured will attract public attention to his office and system of treatment and bring sufficient patronage to repay the great outlay and expense entailed by this offer.
